Steel Workers Get Ultimatum

Extend Pay Contracts Or Be Laid Off, Industry Says

New York (UPI)—The steel industry handed the United Steelworkers of America a 24-hour ultimatum Wednesday to extend the current wage contracts or be laid off before the pacts run out at midnight June 30. A union source said flatly the ultimatum would be rejected.

The source said the union could not accept a contract extension without any "good faith" offer by the industry. Company negotiators said they had no intention of making any offer beyond a previous proposal to grant a non-inflationary wage increase only if current operating costs could be cut.

The union source said the industry's stand could mean fruitless negotiations "for 6 months or a year or even more" beyond the June 30 deadline, with no provision that the steelworkers ever would receive any retroactive pay increase once an agreement was reached.

David J. McDonald, president of the union, said he would present the companies' ultimatum to the USW's 171-man Wage Policy Committee Thursday. He refused to say what his recommendation would be.

Hold-Line Offer

McDonald announced for the first time that his union had made a specific "non-inflationary" offer to the industry in an effort to avert a strike.

The companies replied that they had seen no offer they could accept and added that unless the union agreed to a contract extension Thursday, a nationwide steel strike scheduled for midnight June 30 appeared inevitable.

R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of the U.S. Steel Corp. and the industry's chief negotiator, announced the ultimatum. He said the companies would have to start shutting down their blast furnaces Friday if the union decided Thursday not to accept a contract extension. The projected steel truce included a proviso that either side could end the extension upon 10 days written notice.

Neither side would say that the negotiations had been broken off. But both admitted no further negotiation meetings had been scheduled.

Hike Gas Tax— Road Crisis Seen

. . . Ike Goads Congress

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower complained Wednesday that Congress has put the national road-building program in a critical $4.2 billion jam by not boosting the gasoline tax.

Congress, however, shows no sign of ordering the 1½-cents-a-gallon increase he has asked to pump more money into the interstate highway fund.

Without the increase, Eisenhower pictured the program as limping to an almost complete halt over the next two years. In an attempt to build a fire under Congress, he said this is the picture disclosed by a Commerce Department poll of state highway commissioners:

Ten states will have to stop letting new contracts by the end of the summer. Fifteen more and the District of Columbia must stop by the end of the year. Eleven will suspend by July 1960. The remaining 12 will be unaffected until after mid-1960.

Motorists Alerted

"This is a critical situation in our national road-building program, and one which should give great concern to every motorist," the President said in a statement. "We are on the verge of a stalemate in the orderly development of our vital interstate road network."

The chief executive based his analysis on a report from Bertram D. Tallamy, federal highway administrator. Attached to it were reproductions of telegrams from highway commissioners on prospects in their individual states.

Tallamy offered a batch of figures to show that unless Congress knocks down the financial roadblocks, the states will get not a penny of the $2½ billion of federal help authorized for the year starting July 1, 1960.

These apportionments to the states would normally be made within the next month or two, even though the money would not be available for another year. The idea is to let the states know well in advance how much they can expect in federal funds so as to enable them to do the required planning.

GOVERNOR SWITCHES TO PIPE

Gov. Ralph Brooks has switched his smoking habits—now it's a pipe.

The governor took up cigars shortly before he was inaugurated last January.

However, he had to give them up last April following his "slight" stroke. Now, in the past few days, Brooks has taken to the milder recourse—a pipe.

'Ned' Prucha Still Listed As Missing

The fate of Norman "Ned" Prucha Jr., 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Prucha of 3440 Grimsby Lane, is still unknown.

Ned has been reported missing in a fire which destroyed a resort hotel in Stalheim, Norway. None of those known dead or listed as missing have been definitely identified.

Ned, his sister Claire, and his mother were vacationing in Norway as an early graduation present for Claire, who will graduate from the University of Nebraska next year.

Meanwhile in Oslo, Norway, the U. S. Embassy announced the names of 81 known American survivors of the fire. Mrs. Prucha and Claire were among those listed as surviving. Norman's name was not on the list, but Embassy spokesmen emphasized that the release of the 81 names does not mean there are no other American survivors.

Charles' Grandmother's Home Scene Of Last Efforts By Family

By Sam Hall

Charles Starkweather's parents and immediate family heard the final word of the mass-killer's execution at the home of Mrs. Althea Neal, the 20-year-old redhead's grandmother.

Mrs. Neal, who lives at 705 No. 23rd, asked reporters to stay away from the home during "those last few minutes."

"They're all done in. They're going half-crazy trying to save Charles," she said. Guy Starkweather was on the telephone until shortly before midnight.

The house was dimly lit. The younger brothers and sisters of Starkweather sat alone on the dark screened-in porch. Inside the television set was running.

In their frantic efforts to save the condemned killer's life, there was much milling about the house. There were last minute telephone calls.

Four cars were parked in front of the house at midnight, and one of the couples had already left.

Pen Dr. Finkle Dies Just Before Execution

The Nebraska Penitentiary physician, Dr. B. A. Finkle, died of a heart attack just 25 minutes before he was to be the attending physician at the Starkweather execution.

Dr. Finkle, 75, who had been State Penitentiary physician since 1921, reportedly suffered the attack in the hall just outside the warden's office.

Dr. George E. Lewis Jr., on hand at the time, said Dr. Finkle apparently died of a heart attack.

Dr. Finkle, who lived at 2223 Van Dorn, was a past president of the County Medical Society and was a member of the International College of Surgeons.

Dep. Penitentiary Warden John Greenholtz said after the execution that "the death of Dr. Finkle hurt me more than anything. He was a personal friend and we will miss him greatly at the Penitentiary."

Rats Prove Balanced Diet Value

By George Moyer

A pair of white rats named Wilbur and Joe are a walking lesson in food hygiene.

The rats are owned by the 5th grade class at Omaha's Franklin school. They were the stars of a demonstration Wednesday morning at the annual convention of the Nebraska School Food Service Assn., being held at the University of Nebraska's University High School.

Mike Silver and Pat Law, two members of the 5th grade class, conducted the demonstration. They explained that the class began an experiment on May 24, with Wilbur and Joe to see which would respond better if one were fed a balanced diet while the other got predominantly starches.

When the test started, Wilbur outweighed Joe 49 grams to 48.

The winner obviously is Joe, now dubbed "Mighty" by the children. Joe got the balanced diet consisting of meat, fish, eggs, raw and cooked vegetables, fruit, bread, and whole grain. He weighs an active playful 379 grams.

Wilbur, who has earned the nickname "Weak", didn't fare so well on meat, potatoes, candy, cookies and carbonated beverages.

"Wilbur was a nice rat at first but pretty soon he got jumpy and cross," Pat said. Wilbur weighs 240 grams.

Mrs. Carol Jorgensen, the children's teacher took over the experiment after school let out.

"Wilbur got out of his cage one day and began to eat some house plants, he was so hungry for vegetables," Mrs. Jorgensen said.

When asked what the children had learned from the experiment, Pat replied, "We learned not to eat too many sweet things and keep vegetables in our diets."

"I still like candy, anyhow," she added.

But not too much, thanks to Mighty Joe and Weak Wilbur.

Last-Minute Tries For Reprieves Fail

. . . Killer Remained Calm Until End

By Del Harding

Charles Starkweather went calmly to his death early Thursday morning in the electric chair.

The 20-year-old redhead walked briskly into the execution chamber flanked by two lawmen at 12:01 a.m.

Three minutes later, after 5 separate 2,200 volt electrical charges, he was pronounced dead by the attending physician, Dr. P. E. Getscher of Lincoln.

Starkweather was asked by Dep. State Penitentiary Warden John Greenholtz if he had any last words.

No Last Words

Starkweather shook his head and strap-like masks were placed over his eyes and mouth. Then Greenholtz signalled the out-of-state executioner to go ahead.

The youth's head was shaved and he wore a blue chambray shirt, dungarees and loafers. The left pant leg was rolled up and an electrode placed on his knee.

The only other point of electrical contact was on the headpiece.

40 Watched

An estimated 40 persons, including 4 official witnesses and about 20 newsmen, watched the state's first electrocution since Roland Dean Sundahl died Apr. 30, 1952, for the 1950 hatchet slaying of 16-year-old carhop Bonnie Lou Merrill near Columbus.

Starkweather admitted involvement in 11 murders, but was convicted specifically of the shooting of Robert Jensen, 17, of Bennet, on Jan. 27, 1958. Jensen and his 16-year-old girl friend, Carol King of Bennet, were both shot at a storm cellar east of Bennet.

Starkweather admitted pumping 6 bullets into Jensen's head but his trial defense attorneys claimed he was insane and not legally responsible.

Passed Up Steak

Starkweather was offered a steak for his last meal but passed it up in favor of cold cuts.

Greenholtz said Starkweather's last words when lawmen came to fetch him for his date were "What's your hurry?"

Warden Maurice Sigler, who took over his post only Monday, called it a "normal execution, well organized."

Greenholtz said Starkweather was calm all evening and showed "no emotion whatsoever."

The Rev. Robert Klein, prison chaplain, was with Starkweather from 10:30 p.m. on and Starkweather took part in private devotions with the minister before entering the chamber. The chaplain accompanied him on the last walk.

A police blockade at the prison entrance kept unauthorized persons from loitering in the area. About a dozen carloads of people were parked along the highway near the prison.

Greenholtz said Starkweather's body was claimed by the family and was removed immediately from the prison grounds. He said the Rev. Mr. Klein had been asked by the family to conduct funeral services for the youth.

One of Starkweather's court-appointed defense attorneys, William F. Matschullat, witnessed the execution.

Beforehand he told newsmen he "came to pray for the accused and those close to him."

Matschullat said he believed "justice had been done." He noted nearly every possible legal device had been tried in an attempt to save the youth.

The court decision was handed down at 8:38 p.m., about 3½ hours before the death hour. The court acted upon a petition filed earlier in the evening by the condemned killer's father, Guy Starkweather.

'Most Notorious In State History'

Admitted 11 Slayings

By Del Harding

Charles Starkweather, who died early Thursday morning in the electric chair, was probably the most notorious criminal in Nebraska history.

The 20-year-old redhead, who was born and reared in Lincoln, admitted involvement in 11 murders. Just how many of the 11 persons he killed and how many his 15-year-old girl friend, Caril Fugate, killed—if indeed she killed any—probably will never be known.

Starkweather at times said he killed all 11, but had also claimed Caril killed as many as 5 persons.

Both he and Caril, however, were tried and convicted of only the Jan. 27, 1958, murder of Robert Jensen, 17, of Bennet. Starkweather admitted the actual shooting of Jensen but Caril was charged as his accomplice.

Caril is now serving a life term at the Women's Reformatory at York, but has appealed her conviction to the State Supreme Court.

Began In 1957

The Starkweather murder spree began on Dec. 1, 1957—although no one knew Starkweather was connected with this murder until nearly two months later.

Twenty-one-year-old service station attendant Robert Colvert of 7020 Platte, night attendant at Crest Service Station at 1545 Cornhusker, was found dead on a county road north of Lincoln about 5 a.m. Dec. 1.

He had been shot in the head with a shotgun and robbed of about $160 in station receipts.

The crime baffled city and county lawmen, and might never have been solved except for Starkweather's subsequent rampage.

Starkweather struck next on Jan. 21, 1958.

Killed Father First

He went over to Caril's home at 924 Belmont to visit her, although he had been told by her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett to keep away from her.

An argument ensued between Starkweather and Mrs. Bartlett. Bartlett, 57, joined in and Starkweather claimed Bartlett came at him with a hammer.

Starkweather said he then shot Bartlett with a .22 rifle which he had brought with him. The killings of Mrs. Bartlett, 37, and 2½-year-old Betty Jean Bartlett, Caril's half-sister, followed.

Mrs. Bartlett was also shot but Betty Jean was fatally bludgeoned with a rifle butt and had her throat cut. Starkweather at one time implicated Caril in the killings of her mother and half-sister.

Starkweather and Caril stayed in the Bartlett home for 6 days—until the morning of Jan. 27 when they fled after a relative threatened to call the police because they would not let her into the house.

Defense Claimed

Starkweather and Caril then drove to the farm of 70-year-old bachelor farmer August Meyer east of Bennet, which is southeast of Lincoln. Starkweather said he shot Meyer with a shotgun after Meyer had fired a rifle at him—but lawmen doubt Meyer, a long-time family friend of Starkweather's, had a gun.

After ransacking the Meyer home the two teen-agers (Starkweather was then 19 and Caril 14), both armed, left.

Later their car became stuck, and they struck out on foot.

After Jensen drove into Bennet, purportedly to use a phone, Starkweather forced Jensen to drive back east of Bennet to the site of a recently-razed rural school. Starkweather and Caril then both ordered Jensen and Miss King from the car at gun-point.

Storm Cellar

Starkweather marched the two Bennet teen-agers to a storm cellar at the school site and then shot Jensen 6 times in the head with a .22 rifle. He later claimed Jensen "came at him" when ordered to go into the cellar, but Jensen was shot in the back of the head.

Then Carol King was shot, slashed and dumped in the cellar. Starkweather at first said he killed her and then claimed Caril Fugate did.

Starkweather and Caril then fled in Jensen's car, and drove to Hastings, Neb., where they decided to return to Lincoln for a better car.

About 8 a.m. Starkweather entered the home of C. Lauer Ward at 2843 So. 24th at gunpoint. Ward had already left for work but Mrs. Ward, 51, and housekeeper Lilyan Fencl, also 51, were there.

That day, Jan. 28, was spent in the Ward home. Mrs. Ward and Miss Fencl were tied and left in upstairs bedrooms.

Contradictory Stories

Both women were slashed to death with a knife sometime during the day after being bound. Starkweather again had told contradictory stories, first saying he killed them both and then saying Caril did.

Ward, 47, a prominent Lincoln businessman, returned home about 6 p.m. and was met at the back door by rifle-wielding Starkweather. Ward grabbed the gun but Starkweather succeeded in getting it back and then shot Ward as he ran for the front door. Ward's throat also was slashed.

The teen-agers then left the Ward home that evening and headed across Nebraska in Ward's car.

While driving through Douglas, Wyo., the next afternoon (Jan. 29), Starkweather was followed by a police car for several blocks.

Sought Another Car

After leaving town, fearing they were recognized, he decided to get another car. The policeman, not having received a description of Ward's car, had turned off not knowing he had been following the killer for whom an 8-state alarm was out.

Starkweather spotted a parked car west of Douglas and stopped near it.

He tried tried to get the driver, Merle Collison, 34, of Great Falls, Mont., to roll down the window. But Collison, who had been sleeping, refused and Starweather shot him several times through the car window.

Starkweather later claimed that Caril also pumped bullets into Collison as he pleaded for his life after his (Starkweather's) gun jammed.

A passing motorist, Joseph Joseph Sprinkle, now of Denver, Colo., stopped to assist what he thought was another motorist in distress and was met at gun-point by Starkweather.

Starkweather demanded Sprinkle help him release the emergency brake of Collison's car. Sprinkle, seeing Collison's body, grabbed Starkweather's gun and, after a struggle, succeeded in wresting it from the killer.

As the two were struggling, Dep. Sheriff William Romer of Casper, Wyo., happened by and stopped to see what was going on.

Caril Fugate ran to his car and told him it was Starkweather who had just had a rifle taken from him and had fled in Ward's car.

Romer radioed ahead for help, and Douglas Police Chief Robert Ainslie and Sheriff Earl Heflin soon met and then pursued Starkweather at speeds at up to 110 m.p.h. Finally, after shooting out his rear windshield, they succeeded in halting Starkweather east of Douglas.

Cut Ear

Starkweather, his ear cut by flying glass, snarled at them "If I had had a gun I'd of shot you." He had only an empty pistol and a knife with him in the Ward car, having transferred his other weapons to Collison's car.

Starkweather and Caril both agreed to return to Nebraska to face murder charges and were brought back to Lincoln, arriving here Jan. 31.

Starkweather went on trial in Lancaster District Court, Judge Harry A. Spencer presiding, on May 5, 1958. He was charged both with "first degree murder" and with "murder while in the perpetration of a robbery" in Jensen's death.

His court-appointed attorneys, T. Clement Gaughan and William F. Matshullat, tried unsuccessfully to convince the jury that Starkweather was insane. The killer and his family all took the stand and disputed the insanity contention.

He was found guilty of both murder charges on May 23, and the jury set the penalty at death.

5 Separate Execution Dates Set

Charles Starkweather was originally found guilty on May 23, 1958 of the murder of Robert Jensen and his execution was ordered for December 17.

But this was to be the first of 5 execution dates to be set because of court actions and orders.

The sequence ran like this:

Judge Spencer ordered him electrocuted Dec. 17, 1958.

But a pending appeal to the State Supreme Court stayed the execution. The Court denied his appeal and set the new date as March 27, but a clemency request to the State Pardon Board again postponed the execution.

The Board denied the request and set the execution for May 22.

Just 98 minutes before the scheduled 6 a.m. May 22 execution Federal District Judge Richard Robinson of Omaha stayed the electrocution to allow Starkweather time to appeal a denial of a habeas corpus petition by Lincoln's Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt.

The Federal Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Judge Van Pelt and a fourth date for Starkweather's death was set: June 12.

U.S. Supreme Court Justice Charles Whitaker then stayed the execution to allow time for a high court appeal of the Circuit Court denial. The court declined to hear the appeal and the execution was set for June 25.

Starkweather 20th To Be Executed Here

Charles Starkweather early Thursday became the 20th man to die under the capital punishment law of Nebraska.

The 20 executions have taken place since 1903.

Roland Dean Sundahl, electrocuted a few minutes after midnight April 29, 1952, was the last man to go to the electric chair before Starkweather.

Sundahl was executed following conviction of the murder of Bonnie Lou Merrill, 16-year-old car-hop of Silver Creek. After receiving 4 stays of execution, Sundahl was electrocuted one year after he was originally scheduled to die.

The first man to receive capital punishment in Nebraska was Gottilieb Neigenfind, 28-year-old farmer convicted of first degree murder in Pierce County in October, 1902. He was hanged in 1903.

12th Electrocuted

Starkweather became the 12th man to be electrocuted since 1913 when the Nebraska Legislature voted the change in the form of capital punishment.

Before 1913, capital punishment had been accomplished by hanging according to a law passed in 1901, and 8 men died by the noose during the 12-year period.

First persons to die in the electric chair were two Howard County farmers, both convicted of the murder of Mrs. Lulu Vogt of St. Paul by her son-in-law Allen V. Grammer, 22, and A. B. Cole, 21, of Howard County. After receiving 18 reprieves, the two were electrocuted Dec. 20, 1920.

COURTS REFUSED FINAL PLEAS

Allegations in the new trial request included:

—That Starkweather was "misled and induced" by the state to sign conflicting statements.

—That "false testimony" was used against him with the knowledge of the state.

—That a witness (presumably Caril Fugate, his former girl friend also convicted of murder) "whose testimony would be highly material" to his case would have been willing to testify but that Starkweather was told falsely that she refused to do so.

'Not One Iota'

Judge Spencer ruled at 3:51 p.m. that the allegations were "not supported in any way by one iota of evidence" and denied the request.

The elder Starkweather then left the courtroom and returned a few minutes later with the petition requesting a writ of coram nobis.

Its allegations were much the same except that in it Starkweather claimed that the state "induced this defendant by promises of leniency to give false evidence against himself."

Cites Statement

Judge Spencer denied this request at 4:42 p.m. He said the allegation was contradicted by a statement which Starkweather had signed previously in which he (Starkweather) denied any threats or promises had been made to him by the state.

Both petitions filed by the elder Starkweather reportedly were typed up in the office of Caril Fugate's defense attorneys, John McArthur and Merril Reller.

Reller said Starkweather's Washington, D.C., attorney, James J. Laughlin, had requested their aid in the matter.

Reller, however, said he and McArthur could not represent Starkweather in court because of "conflicting interests." They have claimed Caril was Starkweather's hostage, and have tried unsuccessfully to get Starkweather to change his story and clear Caril of any involvement in the January, 1958, murder rampage which claimed 10 lives.

Searched And Searched

Reller said he and McArthur had "searched and searched and searched but we can't get anyone to represent this boy (Starkweather)."

Both Starkweather and Caril were convicted of first degree murder in the Jan. 27, 1958, death of Robert Jensen, 17, of Bennet. Caril is now serving a life sentence but her case has been appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Starkweather was originally sentenced to die last Dec. 17, but appeals postponed the execution four times until the June 25 date was set.

Bennet Had Hard Time Realizing Killer Dead

By George Moyer

The citizens of Bennet, Neb. waited in calm disbelief Wednesday night for word that Charles Starkweather was dead.

Ray E. Clark, editor of the Bennet Sun, the community's weekly newspaper, told the Star:

"There was quite a lot of talk about the execution and the way the courts handled the thing. Most folks down here didn't believe he (Starkweather) was executed until they heard it. They looked for another stay to come from somewhere. He always got one before."

Bennet is the southern Lancaster county town that lost 3 of its members during Starkweather's murder spree over a year ago. August Meyer was killed at his farm home and Carol King and Robert Jensen were murdered at an abandoned school near the town.

Starkweather was convicted of the Jensen slaying.

"People down here just figured the whole thing took too durn long," Clark said. "They didn't have much respect for the courts when they wouldn't even enforce the law."

Nothing In Paper

Clark said, "There is nothing in my paper about this because we just didn't know what was going on up there. We got so we didn't care—it looked like they were going to let him off."

"Sure, sentiment was running high down here. It's different in a small town. August Meyer was a neighbor of ours. We knew those kids (Carol King and Jensen) since they were little," Clark maintained.

He also said that Caril Fugate (Starkweather's girl friend) "better quit squalling around for a new trial."

"The next jury she gets might just give her the works," Clark said.

Charlie Says:

'Execution To Satisfy Hypocrites'

Guy Starkweather, father of mass killer Charles Starkweather, released Wednesday a note which he said his son had written concerning his impending execution.

The note read:

"Because of the quick date of execution, I am beginning to wonder why I am going to the electric chair. It doesn't seem the way things are turning out that I am going for murder.

"Instead it seems I am going just to satisfy a few narrow-minded hypocrites and to cover up for (the) mistake of judgment that was passed on me."

The "quick date of execution" was apparently a reference to the State Supreme Court's action Tuesday in setting the 20-year-old youth's electrocution for early Thursday morning.

The elder Starkweather also was critical of the "quick" date.

"The state," he said, "slipped this one up for us pretty good. I didn't expect this so soon. I thought we would have maybe a week at the most."

WASHINGTON ATTORNEYS DROP TRY

Washington—Attorneys here for condemned killer Charles Starkweather late Wednesday abandoned all further efforts to stay his execution after two U.S. Supreme Court justices refused to grant a stay.

Both Justices Charles E. Whittaker and Hugo Black denied hearings to Starkweather's Washington attorneys, James J. Laughlin and Albert Ahern.

Laughlin, faced with the Black rejection, promptly announced that Starkweather's attorneys here were abandoning all further efforts to obtain a stay from any high court justice.

"We've done all we can in view of the lateness of the hour."

Killer Got Every Break —Jensen

The father of the Bennet, Neb., youth whose murder Charles Starkweather was executed for said he felt the killer had received "every consideration" from the courts.

Robert E. Jensen, father of the slain Robert W. Jensen, said he had no particular comment on the execution but did say: "The jury's verdict and the judge's sentence were just as much the law as all the stay's he has been granted."

Jensen declined to say whether he would be at his son's grave at the time of execution, as he was in the early dawn of May 22 when Starkweather's execution was stayed just 98 minutes before the deadline.

Senate Payrolls Publicity Favored

. . . By The Rules Committee

Washington (AP)—The Senate Rules Committee Wednesday voted its unanimous approval of a measure that would require making public the names and salaries of all Senate employes.

If the Senate goes along with the committee's move to strip away the secrecy that has concealed the payrolls of most senators, a list of all employes and their salaries will be published 4 times a year.

The first such report by the secretary of the Senate would cover the 3 months from July 1 to Sept. 30 this year. It would have to be published by Nov. 30.

The committee's action is in line with a petition to the Senate early this month by the American Society of Newspapers Editors. It said citizens and taxpayers are entitled to know how public funds are spent.

The petition, presented by ASNE president J. R. Wiggins, vice president and executive editor of the Washington Post, said payroll secrecy "protects against disclosure the acts of those who may have illegally, improperly or recklessly disposed of pubic money." It also spreads unjust suspicion on the innocent, the petition added.

Polio Group Makes Ready For Epidemic

A directive from the state chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has asked that all iron lungs and respiratory equipment be made ready and operable in case of a polio epidemic.

"I wouldn't even think we'd have an epidemic as bad as the one in 1952," stated Morris Siegel, chairman of the Lancaster Chapter, "but polio runs in cycles, and this may be the year."

"Millions of people haven't had polio shots. Everyone from the cradle to the grave should have the innoculations," he added.

According to Siegel, there have been 4 deaths in the state as a result of polio, but none of them have been in the immediate Lincoln area.

Siegel said that Lincoln's 3 polio cases are holding their own.

Mrs. Andrew Kaeding, 41, of 231 No. 1st, in an iron lung, is still in critical condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Lobby Probe Questionable

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It cannot be said with certainty that the investigation of lobbying activities in the state Legislature, as proposed by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, would be a complete waste of time. But there are a few things which indicate that Carpenter should offer something in support of his proposal before it is entitled to favorable consideration by his colleagues.

It would be a mistake for the Legislature simply to go on a fishing expedition.

A Tangible Reason

It would be an expense and inconvenience to many people and for no good reason whatsoever. If there are those for whom there is some reason for an investigation, it is up to Carpenter to state at least the generalities of such situations. There is a substantial foundation already laid in favor of discarding the investigation idea. Unless Carpenter can produce something to offset this, no more time should be lost with the lobbying issue.

The fact is that a great deal of what Carpenter seeks to find out about lobbying activities is already known, either by fact or reputation. As for fact, all lobbyists must register with the secretary of state's office. Statements of expenses must be filed by both the lobbyist and his employer.

The records show that in 1957, there were 140 lobbyists representing 173 employers. During that session, there were 779 monthly lobbyist expense statements filed and 731 employer expense statements filed. The sworn lobbyist expenses for the entire 1957 session totaled $117,703.78 while employers reported total expenses of $155,576.76.

The difference in expenses is easily explained. Not all lobbyists report salary paid them by employers, partly because they are not required to and partly because they are paid an annual amount by an employer, regardless of their lobbying activities. The employer, however, includes salary paid his representative as part of his lobbying expense. There are other minor reasons for the difference but this is the major one.

Oddly enough, in 1955 there were only 85 registered lobbyists but they reported expenses of $155,430.51. They represented 96 employers who reported expenses of $203,952.62. The secretary of state's office reported that this could be attributed to any number of things but is due probably to the different kinds of legislation considered in the two sessions.

The expense statements are not too well broken down but consist mainly of the lobbyists' living expenses plus entertainment and meals for the senators. This means that the question of lobby activities and spending is already known, without the investigation called for by Carpenter.

Nor is there any general public lack of understanding of this. A great many senators eat many meals at the expense of lobbyists, have some free drinks and perhaps a few more favors. There is no secret about this. It is also no secret that this is believed to influence some senators in varying degrees. Thus, it is not so much a question of what is going on as it is a question of what we want to do about it.

If Carpenter had proposed a study of the means for doing away with lobbying or better control of their activities, there would at least be a reason for it, whether you agreed with it or not. What it all amounts to is that you grant everything about lobbying that Carpenter implies. But then you have to say, so what? Does Carpenter want to stop lobbying? It wouldn't be a very good idea, as the lobbyists are generally the only experts in their fields to whom the senators can go for factual information on a subject. Does the senator want to stop the lobbyists from wining and dining his colleagues?

Value Of The Lobbyist

If so, let him introduce a bill to do it or work in behalf of a salary for the senators which at least pays their expenses during a session. Carpenter will probably succeed in placing all his fellow senators in an embarrassing situation with a vote on this measure but it is hoped they demand more evidence of need from him before they back him.

"Good Joke On You—You Can't Kno : Me Down"

Freedom At Any Price

Americans are always proud to stand up and state that they prefer freedom over any other consideration. They go so far as to say they would just as soon be dead as under the heel of Communism or some other foreign ideology which deprived them of the rights and privileges they now enjoy. But what is the reaction of Americans when others make this assertion? What do they think, for instance, about the nationalist movement in Africa?

In the Belgian Congo, African natives are not happy, despite the fact that their standard of living has been improved in recent years. The natives make more than the blacks in many other parts of Africa and the illiteracy rate in the Congo is comparatively low. But the natives of the Congo are still not free. They cannot live where they like, work where they like or go where they like. They have no voice in their government.

In other words, they are not free. The Europeans who control the Congo have given the blacks a little better way of life but have denied them freedom. In defense of their position, the Europeans argue that the Congo and its people would not be nearly so far advanced were it not for the European influence. In this, they seem to see some justification for their exercise of complete control over the land and the people who inhabit it.

But the black Africans are not so concerned with progress as they are with freedom. There is no debate that civilization, from our point of view, is an improvement over the tribal existence of many Africans only a few years ago. But the tribal life was a matter of choice. It was not a constructive life in our sense of the word but it was not something imposed upon a person by another. It was a form of living and society to which the people themselves subscribed, just as we subscribe to democracy. It is probably true, as many Europeans claim in all parts of Africa, that the country is not ready for independence. Where independence has been gained, it has not served as a very good example. But events in Africa are bringing one simple fact into the forefront. This is the fact that a man must have freedom to find satisfaction. This should be easy for the United States to understand but it is a principle we have had a hard time applying in our, so far, limited participation in African affairs.

"Satchmo" Falters

The world, and particularly all America, hopes they find a medicine in Italy that will have Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong back on his feet in a hurry, for the world needs the kind of medicine that only the great trumpeter can give it. The 59-year-old Armstrong is no career diplomat but some of them and others in government service might learn a lot from him.

Fortunately for "Satchmo," he can talk a language that anybody understands—the language of music with a particular jazz dialect. But there is more to his success than this. He likes everybody and his enthusiasm and natural friendliness are catching. Give him a half hour with an audience and he has them eating out of his hand through the magic of his trumpet and the charm of his personality.

Even if you are one of those who don't like jazz or think, perhaps, that it is not a form of art which should be recognized, you would have a hard time turning a deaf ear to "Satchmo." The internationally famous artist just does something with his instrument that you can't resist. It is like the fine painting you can't seem to take your eyes off of, a sculptured piece of art which entrances you with its fascinating lines.

And "Satchmo" has been unsparing of his time and talent. He has traveled the world as an ambassador extraordinary of the United States. He has spread good will among nations and kindled a feeling of kinship among many people of different lands. He has made people who might have wondered realize that Americans have an appreciation of art, a culture of their own and a sincere longing for peace.

When "Satchmo's" music drifts across the land, it is a message of friendship uncluttered with threats of falling bombs or deadly missiles. The only fallout you get is the crowd that is always on hand to greet him wherever he goes. This is the kind of world understanding you can't buy and the kind of which we already have far too little.

Get Them Back To Work

Ever since World War II the United States has been expecting the economic collapse such as pitched off the depression of the '30s. And each time the symptoms appeared, they disappeared. Over the long pull the economy continues to grow in size.

Most dramatic example was the recession of 1958. Washington considered it critical when the national output dropped sharply and unemployment rose to 5,437,000. It was perilous even for the industrial employed whose work week dropped to an average of 38.3 hours.

In the light of such worrisome figures it is worth noting that mid-May of this year saw the national labor force at 66,016,000—a new high mark. The work week is up to 40.5 hours. The average industrial earnings are up to $90.32 a week. Re-employment for the month ending May fifth was 238,000 which was 12 times the customary rate for the period. And unemployment was down to 3,389,000.

Unemployment during the boom period from 1955-57 was down to 2,900,000. These most recent figures show the country only 489,000 from that desired goal.

It will take some time for the historians of economic happenings to describe the magic of this recovery. But obviously the greatly intensified federal spending for defense played its part. In that sense the recovery was not a victory for the administration's aim for less government and smaller national budgets. Rather it was an extension of the principle that a strong dose of public works in some form or another is at least a short-term specific for economic stagnation. The long-range effect will be better measured by observing the effects of the large national budget and the inflationary trades stimulated thereby.

A Broken Promise On Commerce Post

WASHINGTON — Only the insiders realize it, but President Eisenhower could have saved himself a lot of headaches over Adm. Strauss if he had carried out his promise to Under-secretary of Commerce Walter Williams.

Williams had served for five years under Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks with the explicit understanding that he would replace Weeks when Weeks went back to Boston. Williams had been the chief organizer of the "Citizens-for-Eisenhower" clubs and served as their national chairman in the 1952 campaign. It was he who helped raise the $2,000,000 to blanket the TV networks with those famous spot appearances of Eisenhower during the last two weeks of the campaign.

After Ike won, Williams was made under-secretary of commerce with the understanding that he would be promoted to the cabinet later. Williams is a progressive businessman from Seattle, was an early organizer of the Committee for Economic Development, believes small business must be supported to retain the principle of free competition.

Though not happy with Weeks' big business policies, he remained in the the Commerce Department, waiting for him to resign. Finally, Weeks did so. Whereupon Eisenhower reversed himself. Ex-Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey persuaded him to appoint his friend, Adm. Strauss, partner in one of the biggest Wall Street investment firms, to succeed Weeks.

Tired of waiting, and fed up with big business policies, Williams resigned.

Hugh O'Brian, who stars as Wyatt Earp in the TV dramatic series that has made Wichita, Kans., famous, sat near the rear of Congressman Holifield's investigation of radioactive fallout. He sat through the entire hearing as interested as one of the spectators of his own TV drama.

Finally John Donnelly, assistant to Congressman Holifield, went up to him.

"What are you doing here?" asked the curious Donnelly.

"I've just spent a week in Africa with Dr. Schweitzer," replied the Hollywood actor. "And he is so worried about the effect of radioactive fallout on civilization that I decided to attend these hearings."

He added that he intended to continue watching the hearings for a week and then do a TV show on the dangers of atomic war. Holifield's hearings are showing that any nation which starts atomic war could be wiped out by its own fallout.

Two Meetings Could Clarify Demo Stands

WASHINGTON — The intensity of present debate about Democratic presidential politics is matched only by the dearth of solid evidence to back up the opinions so freely expressed. Two meetings are in prospect, however, which should shed some light on the situation.

One is the Governors' Conference in Puerto Rico August 2 to August 5. The 35 Democrats commanding statehouses from Maine to California will be given every opportunity to state their views. If an important majority remains uncommitted and clings to favorite-son strategy, it will afford practically unlimited scope to the hot-stove league in the winter months, for such tactics will virtually assure a wide-open convention.

September 15 to September 19 will see the National Committee and state chairmen meeting in Washington. These wheelhorses will take their time about the candidates, lest they find themselves hitched to bandwagons which don't start rolling.

But they have important decisions to make which will show where the convention power will rest. The committees to be named then, and the party strategy decisions reached will point clearly to the places where the decisions will be made.

The convention arrangements committee is one such spot. The contest there will be between the state power and the congressional caucus. The principal personalities involved are Speaker Sam Rayburn and House Majority Leader John McCormack.

The speaker has been permanent chairman of the last three conventions. He knows the job and is personally revered. But next year he has a presidential candidate of his own, Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

A growing number of party figures would like to put into other and more safely non-partisan hands that all-powerful gavel and the right to recognize one voice amid the clamor of voices from the floor.

Rep. McCormack has been handling the platform, and, in the congressional tradition, it has been a matter of conciliations and compromises. State politicians are saying that is not how they have been achieving their grass-roots resurgence.

A challenge looms at the national meetings to the five southern states which have freed their presidential electors from obligation to stand by the party nominees. Some western committeemen believe this constitutes a violation of the loyalty pledges previously made to the party. They would like to see the matter investigated now rather than become a convention issue.

A demand for a report on the legal aspects of the problem will certainly be made. It is understood that in each state these differ and that it will not be easy for the national party to exercise effective control, even though the southern delegations participate in the selection of a nominee.

It has been nearly three decades since such preliminary skirmishing was of any real moment to the Democrats, but it is quite possible that those who now see clearly all that is involved will end up with the Sunday diamonds.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Little Dogtown, U.S.A.

By SAM HALL
Star Staff Writer

If dogs cold talk, Jo-Jo would bark, "They're cheaper by the dozen."

Jo-Jo, a 2½-year-old Chesapeake Bay retriever, apparently was trying to prove just that when she recently gave birth to a litter of 13 puppies. Unfortunately one of the tiny dogs died shortly after birth.

Although Jo-Jo was "real excited about the whole thing," large litters are nothing new to the 80-pound hefty.

According to owner Warren Gerren of 531 No. 10th, the thoroughbred has given birth to a whopping total of 42 dogs within the last 14 months. Of these 36 survived.

Gerren laughingly remarked that he is definitely not going to tackle the task of naming all 12 puppies. When they become old enough, he said, "I'm either going to sell them or give them away."

☆ ☆ ☆

Jo-Jo keeps a very tight schedule. When she's not raising a family, the gold-colored hunter spends her time romping in the fields with her master in search of pheasants, rabbits and squirrels. "And she's a real good hunter!" Gerren exclaimed.

Jo-Jo is going to be busy during the next several weeks in raising her young ones. But Gerren anticipates having the proud mother in shape for the fall hunting season.

JO-JO AND FAMILY
. . . an impressive total of 42 . . .

The "very friendly" Jo-Jo doesn't do much of anything when she's not hunting, Gerren said. "But she's not lazy," the owner hastened to point out.

Jo-Jo is full of pep, and spends much of her time playing with the neighborhood children, and especially her family favorite—4-year-old Mike.

☆ ☆ ☆

Gerren told of a new hat he recently purchased for Mike. Jo-Jo, he said, would run after Mike, gently tackle him and playfully take the hat from him. If Gerren wishes to keep Mike from getting into something he simply instructs Jo-Jo to stand guard. The dog faithfully stands watch, and has never failed in keeping Mike "off limits."

Jo-Jo was purchased two years ago from an Air Force sergeant in Omaha.

Gerren's wife, Christina, adds that Jo-Jo is a very intelligent and gentle dog. Even though the dog has never harmed anyone, she said, the retriever has proven to be an alert watchdog.

Gerren, who loves to hunt, is now patiently waiting until he and his dog can leave for the wide-open fields. And he hopes to give Jo-Jo a rest from her tremendous birth-giving chores. Jo-Jo's 42 puppies in a 14-month period are quite an accomplishment for any canine, and may prove to be a record for the Lincoln area.

Good Music

Lincoln, Neb.

May I again speak a word in commendation of FM's high-class radio concert programs which are such a delight to music lovers.

Since the "Firestone Hour" has been deleted from television, there remain no muscial programs of any merit. Also the commercials, as a class, are nauseating, sordid, and obnoxious with so much boresome repetition of liquor and cigarette endorsements that it is necessary to silence them.

Particularly gratifying on FM is "Command Performance" where one may send in requests for music to be played. The commercials, which of course are necessary to finance FM, are never long, objectionable or offensive, and the hosts present the programs in a pleasing, refined manner.

In a nutshell, FM has made concert radio listening worthwhile and pleasurable.

Inflation And Taxes

Menlo Park, Calif.

By reading "Your Four Cents Worth" each day, I receive some insight into the opinions and thoughts of my fellow Nebraskans. Although this column is certainly no Gallup Poll, it is interesting.

In the letter entitled "Tax Increases" in the June 19 Star, written by G. C. Chambers, as far as I know, Mr. Chambers has brought forward a new school of economics when it concerns inflation. It was not only the reasoning of Smith, Keynes, Galbraith, and the modern fiscal and monetary policymakers, but all other professional economists that by taking money out of circulation, through modern taxes, interest rates, discount rates, bill-buying rates, open market operations in government securities, location and size of Treasury balances, Regulations T, U, W, and X, and finally reserve requirements at national banks, inflation can be decreased. I ask Mr. Chambers, if taxes are the cause for inflation, then why during a period of deflation do the planners recommend low taxes so the people will have more money to spend?

Inflation means the expansion of the money supply, thereby increasing the amount of purchasing power in relation to the amount of goods that can be produced. Through the rule of supply and demand, prices in this case must rise. Now, if taxes cause inflation, which they really seem to decrease the money supply, how can the money supply ever be disproportionate to the amount of goods that can be produced if taxes lower our purchasing power?

There are many types and causes of inflation, but Mr. Chambers is really talking about government-induced inflation. The biggest way the government can inflate the dollar is to spend more than it takes in, thus having to raise the national debt even more. Spending for output by government units in excess of their current income offset savings. They are buying assets without money, thus increasing the money supply. If for every dollar spent by the government, the same government collected the same dollar in the form of taxes from the populace, there would never be inflation of this type.

None of us likes taxes, for they automatically reduce our purchasing power. But what is just as bad is the slow removal of purchasing power through the inflated price system. I would rather suffer less purchasing power today with taxes as the cause, and know that my savings, insurance, and other investments will be worth the same dollar value in the future with the added interest.

Hoover Warning

Beatrice, Neb.

J. Edgar Hoover's talk the other night barely made headlines, but it was filled with grim warnings of what to expect if the Reds decide the time is right. They have infiltrated many areas of government here. The main point of his talk was that most of our costly defense has been for outside rather than inside our country and that we could be caught as the French were, with our guns the wrong way.

All sort of havoc could come about before our golf-playing commander and heads of various branches of the armed services could muster any help. Our cash-bought allies would have a hard time saving their own skins.

Library Need

Lincoln, Neb.

I very much disagree with the letter by Leo N. Bartunek concerning public libraries (Star, June 19.)

I believe such a progressive city as Lincoln should have a decent main public library. The letter also stated that the majority of the people stay at home and watch television, and are not the least bit interested in public libraries. My family and I went to one of the branch libraries a few nights ago, and in many sections there were hardly any books left on the shelves.

I'm sure a new main library would be appreciated and patronized by the people of Lincoln.

Strauss Vote

Bellwood, Neb.

Congratulations to the 49 U.S. senators for voting down President Eisenhower's choice of Lewis Strauss for secretary of commerce. This is good for the President and for Mr. Strauss, and is especially favorable for more and better work on the part of Congress in general. This is the first time in 6½ years that the big profit interests have taken a real setback. This is a turn for the better for the general welfare of all people of the country.

It was too much to expect Hruska and Curtis to vote favorably. They vote largely against the farmers and workers.

Nike Sites Bid Opening Today

Bids for construction of two Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile sites near Lincoln were to be opened at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Omaha District Office of the U.S. Army Engineers.

An Army Engineer Division Office spokesman in Omaha said the bids would be immediately referred to the Chief of Army Engineers in Washington, D.C., to await the outcome of the current controversy in Congress as to whether to eliminate some 50 Nike sites, including Lincoln's and Omaha's.

Meanwhile, the Beacon Construction Co. of Boston, Mass., submitted the apparent low bid on the Omaha area Nike-Hercules installations at Council Bluffs and Louisville, with a figure of $1,856,801.

The bid compared to a government estimate of $1,617,849.

The highest bid of the 7 submitted for the Omaha projects was by the Olson Construction Co. of Lincoln with a bid of $2,216,400.

The Division Office spokesman in Omaha said the Chief of Army Engineers in Washington had instructed the Omaha District Office to submit any bids on the Lincoln and Omaha sites to Washington.

Future action depends on the controversy now raging in Congress over the Senate Armed Services Committee's recommendation that appropriations for both the Army's Nike Hercules and the Air Force's Bomarc be cut.

The Enginees have announced a tentative completion date for the Lincoln missile site in mid-1960. Estimated construction time is 8 months.

Lincoln sites for the ground-to-air missiles are near Berks and Agnew, north and south of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Board Repeats It Found No Evidence To Warrant Firing Warden Bovey

By Betty Person

A report from the Board of Control which "pulled no punches" relative to the May 15 resignation of Penitentiary Warden Joseph Bovey was was read to the Legislature Wednesday in which the Board stated its investigation had produced no evidence to warrant Bovey's discharge.

Reports from the Board of Control and Gov. Ralph Brooks had been requested by the lawmakers several weeks ago following the hectic May 8-15 period in which the governor's office asked Bovey to resign, he refused then later after getting a clean slate from the Board.

Brooks had charged Bovey with improper administration of the institution.

Charges Reviewed

The Board's report stated that on May 11, Robert Conrad, Brooks' administrative assistant, called Board members and the press to his office and reviewed the charges against Bovey, but stated that Gov. Brooks had no desire to circumvent the Board which was in charge of the Penitentiary.

"After excusing the press, he requested Board members to accompany him to an inner office and in closed session repeated some of the charges made in open session and added other charges," the report continued.

"He stated in effect that based on these accusations Warden Bovey should be removed immediately and the administration of the prison put in other hands, that we should then conduct an investigation and grant Mr. Bovey a hearing," the report said.

'Reprisals' Feared

The Board said it requested a list of witnesses from Conrad, but "this he refused to give us, stating he feared 'reprisals'."

The Board assured him there would be no reprisals, the report stated.

The Board said it asked Conrad for a formal list of charges, but that "Conrad stated he had none, yet he was pressuring our Board to make a decision on the spot to remove Warden Bovey."

After a subsequent request for a formal list of charges in writing, the Board report continued, Conrad gave the Board a list which was pencilled. (The Board submitted a typewritten copy of Conrad's report to the Legislature.)

'No Justification'

From the oral arguments submitted and the written list, the Board "agreed we could see no justification for removing Mr. Bovey forthwith with no more than hearsay evidence made available to us."

The report continued that the Board immediately called Bovey to the office and confronted him with the charges in the outline and those given orally. "At the conclusion of our conference," the report said, "we could come to no decision indicating that Mr. Bovey should be discharged."

The Board then asked Bovey to submit a written report giving the "facts in each instance" relative to the charges. (This also was submitted to the Legislature.)

On Thursday, May 14, the Board continued, it began receiving information "indicating that tension was building up in the Penitentiary." That same evening, Bovey informed a Board member that he was going to resign and that he didn't want the Board to try to get him to change his mind.

'Right Thing to Do'

Bovey said he had given the "matter considerable thought and had decided it was the right thing to do because he felt that in view of the present situation and the fact that the governor was chairman of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, it would be difficult for them to work together."

Bovey, however, "would not submit his resignation until after the report had been submitted and his name was cleared of any wrong doing," the report continued.

To make a "categorical point-by-point denial of all charges made by the governor, it was clear further hearings would be necessary in order to prove or disprove the charges."

But the report said, "We were receiving no co-operation from the governor's office in the matter of furnishing us the names of witnesses to expedite the clearing of these charges."

Because of that and the concern over the situation at the Penitentiary, Bovey was again called before the Board.

"Before we could confer with Warden Bovey, Mr. Conrad came to our office and again demanded that we remove Warden Bovey immediately. He stated that he had just come from the Governor's Mansion and that the governor was getting very impatient, that we had taken too long a time in taking any action."

The report said Warden Bovey said if the governor would accept a statement from the Board to the effect that the Board found the charges insufficient to warrant his discharge, he would consider that statement acceptable and tender his resignation rather than waiting.

When assured that such would be the case, Bovey tendered his resignation.

Brooks 'Had Reports Situation Not In Best Interests Of State'

Gov. Ralph Brooks submitted to the Legislature Wednesday a report relative to the resignation of Warden Joseph Bovey which took a different view than that submitted by the Board of Control.

In his letter, Brooks noted that "administration of the state institutions is a matter for the executive branch of our government.

"The action of this office in connection with the resignation of the warden is one in which I have no hesitancy in making a report as a matter of courtesy and as chief executive but one in which I do not feel that there is any particular obligation to furnish information to the legislative branch," he continued.

Brooks then explained, however, that upon assuming the office of governor, he "immediately began receiving reports of situations at the State Penitentiary which were not in the best interests of the people of Nebraska.

"After I had satisfied myself that such reports were meritorious and were supportable in fact," the governor continued, "I presented them to the warden who, in view of these facts, agreed to resign.

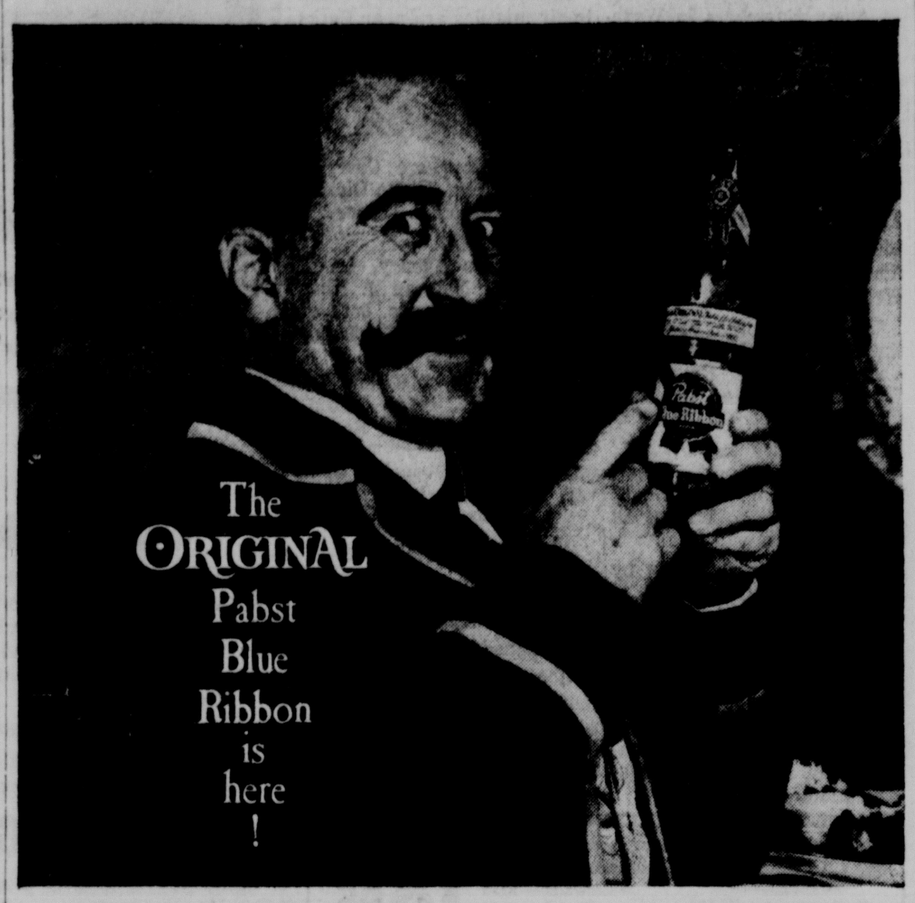

'Changed Mind'

"He subsequently changed his mind and reviewed the matter with the Board of Control," the governor said, "and the evidence which I had was then presented to the Board . . . which acknowledged the accuracy of the information and that the same had been the subject of previous discussion with the warden."

The governor continued, "Four days later, the warden resigned."

Brooks said after that he suggested to the Board that their search for the new warden be conducted without regard for political affiliation but with the sole regard for background, experience and qualifications in the fields of criminology and penology.

The Board has "apparently pursued this recommendation," Brooks said, adding that "we now have a new warden . . . who is not a political appointee, but one whose recommendations indicate that a professionally trained person will be in charge of this important institution."

Brooks Promises Probe Of Western Electric Valuation Cut

Gov. Ralph Brooks said Wednesday there will be an investigation into the Douglas County Board of Equalization's action reducing the Western Electric Company's assessed valuation by $5 million.

The governor made the statement in a letter to Sen. Terry Carpenter who had written Brooks about the matter suggesting that the governor's office take "immediate steps to take legal action through the Attorney General's office."

Carpenter asked that the action "determine the validity of this subsidy in the area of taxation and to proceed into the courts of the state to see that this practice is discontinued."

Carpenter said the $5 million reduction was granted "upon the novel application that the Western Electric Company upon their testimony expected to lose money on its operations within the area of Douglas County."

Said Not Acceptable

According to the Scottsbluff senator, the State Supreme Court has rendered many decisions that such a factor, by itself or in conjunction with other factors, is not acceptable.

He said the ultimate effect of the reductions would be to place a greater burden on Nebraska farm and home owners who would have to make up the reduction "illegally" given Western Electric.

"The courts of our state have indicated that the uniformity section is the cornerstone of application of all taxes," Carpenter wrote Brooks, "and if consideration is to be given the Western Electric Co. upon the sole factor of losing money, the same courtesy must be given to every other taxpayer of Douglas County and the state."

'Should Not be Hasty'

In his answer to Carpenter, Brooks said, "It is agreed that granting a reduction of such magnitude certainly should not be done hastily, nor should such action be taken without first giving full consideration to every conceivable factor affecting value.

"It is further agreed that since a question has been raised in the minds of the people, this matter should receive the full attention of the state," Brooks continued.

"It is our intention to investigate thoroughly the actions of the Douglas County Board of Equalization in this particular case, and if it appears legal action is necessary, it will certainly be taken."

He said a full report of the investigation will be made public upon completion.

Pacifist Marchers Take Up Post Outside Mead

Mead, Neb.—A dozen pacifist marchers of Omaha Action, protesting the construction of an Atlas Missile site at the Nebraska Ordinance Plant near here took up positions about 150 feet east of the northeast entrance to the missile site Wednesday night.

In a telephone conversation with the Star from his post at guard gate No. 1 at the north entrance to the Ordinance Plant, a guard said the marchers had stopped at his post to inquire as to the whereabouts of the northeast entrance to the missile site.

There were no demonstrations by the marchers at his post, the guard said. The pacifist group has said its intervention at the site would be non-violent.

It was the plan of the pacifists to begin a vigil at the northeast entrance to the missile site immediately upon completing their walks from Omaha and Lincoln.

Air Police Present

Two unarmed air police were stationed at the northeast gate and others remained in reserve some distance away, it was reported.

Acting Saunders County Sheriff Charles Sayers was on hand along with representatives of the Army Ordnance Department and National Gypsym Co., operators of the Ordnance Plant.

The Lincoln group preceded the Omaha group to the site, it was reported.

Marching with the Omaha group Wednesday was Mrs. Helena Chase Johnson of Colorado Springs and Steamboat Springs, Colo., the granddaughter of former Omaha Mayor and Lawyer Champion Spaulding Chase.

She is the daughter of Clement E. Chase, Sr., publisher of a weekly society paper, "Excelsior," in Omaha in the latter part of the 19th century and early part of the 20th century.

Subdivision Change Okay Asked By Council

By Nancy Shirley

The City-County Planning Commission has recommended that the City Council approve proposed revisions to the Subdivision Ordinances. The proposed revisions would regulate the subdivision of land into lots of 5 acres or less whether by plat or by deed.

These proposed revisions would also empower the planning director to approve minor subdivision of land where subdivision plats were not required by charter and state law.

Under the proposed changes, information would also be required concerning the drainage area involved in the new subdivision, estimated quantities of drainage water, and proposals as to how this water would be handled.

Fee To $25

The fee for a preliminary plat, under these revisions, would be increased from $5 to $25 and a fee of $1 per lot to be paid to the city prior to final approval of the plat.

Planning Director Douglas Brogden had earlier said that the revisions were necessary because the lack of control over subdividing has allowed some land to be subdivided in and near the city without regard for future street and drainage needs.

In other action, the Planning Commission voted to recommend that the City Council deny the following applications for zoning changes:

—C. J. Michaelis, a change from B two-family to I Commercial at 48th and Meredith Sts.

—Tastee Inn, Inc., a change from A-2 single family to G local business at 48th and Aylesworth. The Commission also voted to recommend that the Tastee Inn apply for a special use permit, and remove buildings on the property in question and use the land as a parking facility.

—Mr. and Mrs. Haven W. Hurst, a change from H-1 highway business to H-2 high commercial or J business at the southeast corner of 47th and Starr.

Hearings were deferred on 3 other zoning change requests:

—Al Alles for a change from A-2 single family to B two family at 47th and Van Dorn.

—F. Pace Woods for a change in zone from A-1 single family to G local business at 27th and Stockwell.

—Vern C. Davison for a special use permit to build and operate an off-street parking lot at 1729 M.

The Commission also voted to recommend the approval of the City Council to vacate 64th St. between Judson and Knox, with the reservation that residents build a sidewalk 4-feet wide and assume the expense of removing electrical circuits for street lighting on the vacated street.

Defense Sirens To Be Altered

Civil Defense sirens may sound between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday, but this will not be intentional.

On Monday, telephone company workmen will begin removing stand-by wire control from 7 of the 9 sirens in Lincoln and will complete the work by Tuesday evening.

CD Director Richard Vestecka said that the only two warnings which indicate a real alert are a 30 minute wailing sound, indicating "take cover" while a 5 minute steady blast advises citizens to evacuate the city.

The normal 15 second test of the sirens will be at 5 p.m. Monday.

Vestecka reported that two of the CD sirens were operating satisfactorily enough on the new radio equipment to warrant the use of radio equipment on all 9 sirens.

Royal Yacht Smacks Pier

. . . Philip At Wheel

Montreal (UPI) — Prince Philip, in command of the royal yacht Britannia with Queen Elizabeth II aboard, banged the ship against a pier Wednesday, leaving an ugly 25-foot scrape on the glistening hull.

A press aide to the queen at first emphatically denied that Philip, a former frigate skipper in the Royal Navy, had anything to do with the mishap, which occurred at Three Rivers, Que., 80 miles down the St. Lawrence River from here.

The aide admitted later, however, that Philip was handling the ship when it scraped the pier.

He said the mishap could have happened to anyone.

Recreation Bills Draw 2 Vetoes

$1 Stamp, Athletic Dept. Switch Fall

By Betty Person

Gov. Ralph Brooks delivered two veto messages to the Legislature Wednesday afternoon — one a veto of LB1 which called for repeal of the recreation area $1 use stamp, and the other a veto of LB687 which would have placed jurisdiction of the State Athletic Commission under the Health Department.

The Legislature subsequently made an effort to override the veto of LB1, but it failed on a 9-25 vote.

An hour later Mel Steen, secretary of the State Game Commission, told reporters the Game Commission has authority under the existing law to exempt recreation areas from the use stamp and that this would be done by Oct. 1, the date current stamps become obsolete.

Refund Cost $1.50

In his veto message relative to LB1, Gov. Brooks noted that it would cost the Commission $1.58 to refund each $1 use stamp purchased thus far this year.

He also noted the Legislature failed to enact the bill with the emergency clause which means the repeal would not become effective until September or October.

The "obvious administrative difficulties, as well as this mathematically irreconcilable fact, are in and of themselves sufficient to justify a veto of this legislation," the governor said.

Brooks noted that the Commission has authority to exempt areas within its jurisdiction insofar as display of the sticker is concerned, and that it was his understanding it intended to do so.

Favored Repeal

A .13-mill levy for state park improvement was passed in March and the Game Commission had said they favored repeal of the $1 stamp if the levy passed.

In his veto message of LB687, Gov. Brooks said he had no objection to eliminating the Department of Athletics and combining it with the Department of Health, but he objected to allowing an appointive official (the director of Health) appoint the Athletic Commissioner.

No Override Try

There was no attempt to override the veto of LB687.

In other action in the Legislature's short afternoon session, the lawmakers agreed to an amendment which reduced the general fund appropriation in the budget bill by $114,012.

The money was to have been for Safety Patrol overtime payments, but a clarification of the bill authorizing such payments indicates they can be made out of Highway Dept. cash funds rather than the general fund.

C. C. Stockwell, Bassett, Is Dead

Bassett, Neb. — Funeral services for Chester C. Stockwell, lifetime resident of Rock County, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the Bassett Bandshell.

He was fatally stricken while conducting rehearsal for the Bassett City Band. The band will play, without a director, a concert in memorium to Mr. Stockwell.

Director of the Bassett City Band for 56 years, Mr. Stockwell would have celebrated his 72nd birthday next week.

He served as Rock County clerk for 40 years and was dean of clerks in Nebraska at the time of his retirement this year. He was a director of the Highway 183 Assn.

Industrialist Goldfine Loses His Bid To Avoid Standing Trial

Washington (AP) — Bernard Goldfine, gift-giving Boston industrialist, lost his bid to avoid standing trial on an 18-count contempt of Congress indictment.

Goldfine

Federal District Judge James W. Morris rejected a multi-pronged defense attack on the indictment. He will meet Monday with opposing counsel to fix a date for Goldfine's trial.

The trial has been delayed pending outcome of the defense attack on the indictment. Goldfine's lawyers contended, among other things, that (1) the House Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight framed the questions Goldfine refused to answer from information illegally obtained through eavesdropping and (2) Goldfine's right to privacy was violated while he conferred with his lawyers.

Judge Morris said "it is certainly understandable that the defendant should complain and be indignant at the intrusions upon his conversations with his counsel."

And, Morris added, "it may well be that such should be considered in mitigation of any punishment which would be visited upon him if convicted on the charges in the indictment."

But, Morris said, "he cannot thereby wholly escape the consequences of his refusal to answer pertinent questions propounded by the subcommittee in its authorized inquiry into facts necessary for proper legislation. His refusal to answer the questions involved was upon the ground they were not pertinent, and proof of this is the burden he must face."

The maximum penalty upon conviction for contempt of congress is a year in jail and a $1000 fine.

Goldfine is under a 3-month jail sentence in Boston for failing to produce records sought by the internal revenue service. His secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman, is under a 10-day sentence on a similar charge. Both are free on bond pending the outcome of their appeals.

All-Staters To Give Operetta

One of the highlights of the final week of the All-State High School Fine Arts course at the University of Nebraska will be the presentation of the operetta, "Down in the Valley", Friday at 7 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom.

The performance is open to the public, and there is no admission charge.

Standing in the production will be Lige Powell of Lincoln and Christine Johnson of Gering.

Other members of the cast include Ray Wojtasek of Ord, Steve Smay of Maryville, Mo., Bud Davisson of Seward, Robert Heim of Humboldt, Dana Mills of Hay Springs, Tess Meinhardt of Lincoln, Sara Johnson of Lexington, and Lynn Flood of Imperial.

Homes For Aged Study Is Sought

A resolution to study the situation in homes for the aged was introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

The resolution, LB57, was introduced by Sens. John P. Munnelly of Omaha and Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln.

The study, to be made by a committee appointed by the Legislative Council, calls for a determination of the income of aged persons, utilization of health facilities in the homes, adequacy of present services and facilities, care and environment, health and fire protection, and adequacy of funds furnished the homes.

The legislators indicated there were no more resolutions to be introduced. Sen. Don Thompson of McCook, chairman of the legislative council, said there have been about 30 resolutions so far considered by the council committee.

He said that only 12 or 14 of the resolutions could be adopted for serious study, and the rest would either have to be dropped or the council would have to hire additional help, which would cost money.

Morse Called 'Name Caller'

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) known for his own verbal outbursts, Wednesday criticized Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) for habitual "name-calling" that Goldwater said was hurting the Senate's dignity.

The outspoken Republican campaign chairman, citing a phrase used by Morse in 1954, said the issue was whether the Senate "is going to countenance political thuggery in American politics."

Morse rose to the occasion with the reply that "There may be something that concerns me less than the criticism of the senator from Arizona but if there is I don't know what it is."

The former Republican, who broke with President Eisenhower and ultimately became a Democrat, told Goldwater he had no intention of changing his speaking habits and was willing to be judged on his record after he leaves the Senate.

Aswan Planning Shows Progress

Cairo (AP)—Soviet and Egyptian experts reportedly agreed Wednesday on the draft of the Aswan high dam project.

H-Bomb Attack Could Impair Billion Future Americans—Dr. Neel

Washington (AP) — A specialist in hereditary effects estimated that an H-bomb attack on the United States now could kill or disable more than one billion Americans of future generations.

Dr. James V. Neel of the department of human genetics at the University of Michigan Medical School drew that picture, which he conceded was an extreme one, for a Senate-House subcommittee studying the effects of nuclear war.

Neel emphasized his forecast was based on very rough estimates and over-simplifications of data on biological changes caused by radiation.

Could the human race survive? Neel answered:

"It is my opinion, which cannot be backed up by any careful calculation, that we can survive, but at the cost we have just discussed."

The cost he outlined was this:

The type of H-bomb assault conceived by the subcommittee for its survey left 40 million survivors 39 years old or under. They would produce the next generation, replacing themselves with a like number of children. This birth rate would continue for 30 generations, or about 1,000 years.

Neel said his calculations were in no sense a signal of doom.

His idea was this: Many persons now have stored up bad genes without ill effect. Mutations caused by radiation would simply add to these — and in irregular amounts.

The death of one person may remove from the population a number of altered genes, thus reducing perhaps drastically the total affected over the generations.

And many of those who develop defects may still carry on normal lives, contributing to society.

Ike Budget Ceiling Is Penetrated

Senate OKs $4 Billion For Welfare Programs

Washington (AP) — The Senate Wednesday broke through President Eisenhower's budget ceiling for the first time this session, passing a $4 billion bill to run the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and other agencies.

The bill, carrying $365 million more than the President requested, was approved 83-10.

In an earlier key test vote, the Senate buried, 70-26, a Republican move to cut the bill's major item—$3.5 billion for health, education and welfare.

As passed the bill's total for these programs is approximately $388 million more than the President requested.

The measure, which also carries money to finance the Labor Department and various other agencies in fiscal 1960, is $206 million bigger than the House had voted.

A Senate-House conference committee will now take over to try to work out a compromise.

Most of the increases are earmarked for research programs by the national institutes of health and grants to the states for hospital construction.

Dio Is Freed; New Charges Handed Down

Syracuse, N.Y. (AP)—Johnny Dio, convicted last year of labor extortion, won freedom from prison Wednesday, only to face new charges.

He posted $35,000 bail, pending trial on federal charges of income tax-evasion and of conspiracy in the acid-blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Then he returned to his home ground—New York City.

A state appellate court Tuesday reversed Dio's conviction on a charge of extorting money from two stationery companies by assuring them they would have no labor trouble.

The appellate court held that the prosecution had not proved its case.

Aero Fund Split Not Yet Known

The State Aeronautics Commission was informed Wednesday that the Aeronautics Department has not yet been told what federal airport construction funds will be available to Nebraska in fiscal 1960.

Federal airport legislation is pending before a Senate-House conference committee.

Best guess, commissioners were told, is a little less than $750,000. That is about the sum available to Nebraska in fiscal 1959.

Interested cities and the public will be informed immediately upon receipt of official notification and establishment of application dates, State Aeronautics Director Jack Obbink said.

A 4-unit, multiple-T hangar at Burwell received approval for participation in a state construction revolving fund.

The Department's traffic stimulation program came in for considerable discussion.

All commissioners were present.

Briton Pays $770,000 For A Painting

London (AP)—A London art dealer paid 275,000 pounds ($770,000) for a Rubens painting—and said it was a bargain.

The picture by the 17th Century Flemish painter, an altar piece called "The Adoration of the Magi." It shows the Virgin Mary displaying the Christ child to the 3 Wise Men.

The price is the highest ever paid at an art auction.

Dealer Leonard Koetzer, acting as agent for an unnamed British collector, made the winning bid after beating down American competition.

"The picture is worth considerably more than I gave for it and my backer was prepared to go much higher if necessary," said Koetzer. He refused to give a clue to the name of the mysterious buyer.

More than 1,000 art lovers packed into Sotheby's Auction Rooms to watch the sale. Its drama was crowded into less than 3 minutes.

Tourists Sought By Russ Official

Moscow (UPI)—A Russian official Wednesday night extended an invitation to President Eisenhower and 150,000 Americans to visit the Soviet Union this year.

Yuri Zhukov, chairman of the State Committee on Cultural Relations, extended the invitation during a reception in honor of former New York Gov. Averell Harriman who is winding up a tour of Russia.

About 15,000 U. S. tourists are scheduled to visit Russia this summer.

To Get the Full Benefit of Your Summer Vacation...

. . . you should relax. And it is hard to relax if you are conscious of important things which you left undone before taking off on your vacation.

Particularly if you have neglected reviewing your property holdings and your family objectives with your lawyer so that he can prepare your Will, or revise your existing Will if that appears advisable, you are likely to take worry rather than peace of mind

There are many important things to consider in reviewing your estate plan. First come your wishes, determining just what you want to accomplish. Next, with you on your vacation.
the problem of carrying out your wishes with maxmium protection for your family and at minimum tax cost. Here are a few questions to consider:

1. What is the potential tax burden on your estate?
2. Can you carry out your plans at a lower tax cost?
3. Should you take advantage of the "marital deduction"?
4. Would it be an advantage in your case to have two trusts under your Will rather than one?
5. Do you know that having property in joint names may increase total estate taxes?
6. Do you have enough liquid assets to pay taxes and the other expenses of settling your estate?
7. If not, have you enough life insurance to meet the cash needs of your estate? Is it arranged so that it will be available for that purpose?
8. Do you know the income tax advantages of short term trusts?
9. Will inflation affect your plans for the protection of your family? If so, what should be done about it?
10. Do you know what powers you should give your trustee in order that business interests, close corporation holdings, and the like, may be handled to the best advantage?

Review your Will now and make any necessary changes before you leave on your vacation. Our trust officers will be glad to confer with you about the business, investment and financial aspects of your estate plans. Your own lawyer should advise you on all legal questions, and should draw your Will and any other legal documents that may be needed.

Come in at any time to discuss your affairs — in confidence and without obligation.

Consult Your Lawyer

Your own lawyer should advise you on all legal problems pertaining to your estate. He should draw your will and any other legal documents needed to carry out your plans.

Betrothal Announced

MISS JAN BROWN

The engagement of Miss Jan Brown of Daly City, Calif., to James Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Russell of Lincoln, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown of Daly City.

No wedding date is named.

Mr. Russell now is attending City College, San Francisco, Calif.

SUBURBIA

EASTBOROUGH

Tuesday, June 16, was rather an eventful day for one of our suburban bridge clubs which met at the home of Mrs. Robert Longman.

During the dessert bridge party Mrs. Ed Marti was honored as she, her husband and daughters, Sybil and Zoe, were leaving Eastborough on Wednesday to make their new home in Casper, Wyo.

And making it a doubly festive occasion was the presence of Mrs. Robert Hartsock of Omaha and Mrs. John Robson of Denver, both former members of the bridge club.

Incidentally, we hear that the Robson couple is in the process of moving from Denver to Colorado Springs.

Leaving Lincoln next Wednesday by plane for Baltimore will be Mrs. Louis A. Natale and her five month-old daughter, Josephine. The two-some will be spending three months in Maryland as the guests of Mrs. Natale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Winter, while Lt. Natale is serving a tour of duty in Europe.

Hear that 1st Lt. and Mrs. John Herbert are the proud parents of a new son, David Scott, who arrived at Lincoln General Hospital on Thursday, June 18. Eagerly awaiting David's arrival home is his sister, Sharon.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herbert of Hyattsville, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gills of Lewisville, Md., are the maternal grandparents.

MEADOW LANE

Capt. and Mrs. Robert Byrom are announcing the birth of their son, James Kevin, who was born at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Tuesday, June 16. Among James' most ardent admirers are his sister, Laura Lee, and his brother, Bobby.

The new arrival's paternal grandmother is Mrs. Helen Byrom of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Thomas Bunton of Pontiac, Mich., is the maternal grandmother.

Incidentally, Mrs. Bunton arrived in Meadow Lane recently for an extended visit.

A warm welcome this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Rademacher who moved into their new home last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rademacher, formerly residents at 6511 Gladstone, have three children, Dick, Norma and Kathy.

Vacationers

Mr. and Mrs. Herm Harney and their daughters, Kathy and Patti have returned to Lincoln after a week's vacation in the south. The family visited Mr. Harney's mother, Mrs. H. L. Harney; his brother, B. L. Harney, both of Cynthiana, Ky., and toured a number of historical sites.

Around The Town

—Thumbing through a variety of interesting little notes on our spindle we found one that would be of considerable interest to Lincoln—if we could tell it, but we can't. Needless to say it is a betrothal announcement, and it involves the daughter of former Lincoln residents—The young lady, by the way, is a Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska—So much for that.

* * *

—We can tell you, however, that Judge and Mrs. E. B. Chappell are back in town once more. Judge and Mrs. Chappell have just returned from a trip west—Couer d'Alene, Idaho, where they attended the wedding of their son, Dr. James William Chappell, to Miss Katherine Oehler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Oehler of Cour d'Alene.

From Idaho Judge and Mrs. Chappell went to Olympia, Wash., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sackrison.

Incidentally, Dr. James Chappell and his bride also will reside in Olympia where Dr. Chappell is serving as assistant superintendent of internal medicine at Washington State Hospital.

* * *

—Have a communique this morning from the Dallas, Tex., Talcum Powder set—It concerns the arrival of Miss Stephanie Ann Rutherford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Rutherford, III, on Friday, June 12. Mrs. Rutherford is the former Joyce Ann Sporn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Sporn of Lincoln—and an Alpha Xi Delta at Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Rutherford Jr., of Dallas, are the paternal grandparents.

* * *

—Met an attractive summer visitor the other day—She is Mrs. Charles Lehmann of New York City whose husband plays second base for the Lincoln Chiefs. The blonde Mrs. Lehmann, who is careering in one of the better known advertising agencies in New York, is a bride. Her marriage to Mr. Lehmann took place last March.

* * *

—Hear that Dr. and Mrs. Carl Christol have returned to their home in Vermillion, S.D., after a visit with Dr. Christol's cousins, Mrs. Grace Bornemeier, Mr. and Mrs. James Veach and other relatives. Dr. Christol, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, class of 1899, took his doctorate at the University of Heidelberg, and taught European History and Political Science at the University of South Dakota for 50 years.

The Dress Doctor

by EDITH HEAD (with Jane Kesner Ardmore)

(Editor's note: This is the seventh in a series of installments condensed from Hollywood dress designer Edith Head's best-selling book, "The Dress Doctor.")

In designing for nightclubs, as differentiated from television or movies, there is the difference again in lighting. You must be careful not to select a color that will turn pea-green when hit by an amber spot, and the effect of your clothes is always full-length rather than close-up.

That's why I went to Las Vegas when I designed nightclub clothes for Betty Hutton and subsequently for Rosemary Clooney. Rosemary is another girl who first came to me with white fluffy dresses, full skirts, little waists, bows on the shoes — the young girl look. She was well dressed and expensively dressed, but she hadn't jelled. She flitted from dress to dress with equal enthusiasm; and the very fact that people call her "Rosie," that she is a natural blonde with curly hair, then a singer with a band, led her to favor very feminine girlish styles.

For this same Rosie we worked out practically a uniform; suits, sports dresses, dinner clothes, formal clothes, always the same short length (which suits her proportions) with emphasis on the collar and neckline. The clothes are simple, sophisticated, of plain fabric and color, because essentially you don't notice what this girl wears, you notice her vitality.

From the beginning, Rosemary's attitude was: "If Joe likes it, I do."

And I knew Jose Ferrer'd like it; I'd checked him first.

This is what you call "making a clothes personality"; we experimented first with various necklines, various silhouettes; I even had Rosie come into the gallery and we photographed her in our experiments.

From the beginning, Rosemary was an interested patient and one who took the medicine prescribed.

Rosemary keeps coming back; many of my patients do—that's what's so pleasant.

(On Saturday, Miss Head tells of Deborah Keer and Joan Crawford)

Mid-June Ceremony

MRS. GERALD H. WAGNER

The wedding of Miss Mary Ann Vrba, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph L. Vrba of Schuyler, and Gerald R. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wagner of Norfolk, took place on Saturday morning, June 13, at St. Augustine's Church in Schuyler. The 10 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. C. J. Nacke.

Miss Clare Vrba was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridemaids were Miss Shirley Wagner, Norfolk, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Alberta Dobry, Schuyler. Miss Barbara Jean Vrba was her sister's junior bridesmaid. The attendants' alike frocks of silk crystalette shaded from pale aqua to deep peacock blue and their brow veils in matching tone were held by silk bows. They carried white daisies.

Serving as best man was John J. Craig of Sioux City, Ia., and the ushers were Maurice Oschner of Madison; Max Waldo, DeWitt; John Ranney, Weeping Water; and Richard Babcock, Shuyler.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white Swiss organdy over taffeta. The tucked bodice was designed with a high throatline and brief sleeves, touched with imported lace, and panels of the tucked organdy accented the wide skirt which ended in a train. A bandeau of lace and pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried an organdy-covered prayer book showered with stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagner will reside at 3807 Holdrege in Lincoln where the bride is a student at the University of Nebraska and Mr. Wagner is doing graduate research at the College of Agriculture. Mrs. Wagner is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron ond Omicron Nu honoraries, and the bridegroom, a former student at Norfolk Junior College, is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Dear Abby . . .

Not Needy, Thank You

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Most of our relatives live in the city but we live on a farm. We make a decent living but our relatives feel that since we live in the country and have five kids we are real hard up or something. They keep sending their children's worn-out clothes to us. They don't fit our kids and aren't decent enough to wear anywhere.

I unpacked a mess of these old rags this morning and just took them out and burned them. Should we write to them and tell them to quit sending us boxes or just keep quiet? The stuff they send is not worth the postage.

COUNTRY SISTER

DEAR SIS: Write your relatives and thank them but suggest that they give their boxes or (don't say "worn-out" — say "outgrown") clothing to a local rummage sale or charity.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: A girl who works in our office has a PAST . . . and I mean a real PAST. She started out young and has really been through the mill. And she's not ashamed to tell people about it. She is very popular with the men because she tells them dirty stories. Everyone says she is a "good sport" and her past hasn't seemed to have hurt her. In fact, I think it helps. I wonder if it wouldn't pay me to get a past?

NO PAST

DEAR NO: Don't envy a girl with a past. She attracts only men who are hanging around in the hope that history will repeat itself.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married four years. He is 25 and I am 24. We have four wonderful children.

We have never had a honeymoon or vacation together. We take the children everywhere we go.

This summer my mother, who lives in another state, wants to take the children for two weeks. Am I being unfair for wanting to go some place without the children?

My husband thinks we should spend our vacation with our children. I love the children but, Abby, I could sure use a two-week rest. I'd appreciate your opinion.

KIND OF TIRED

DEAR TIRED: Everyone needs a vacation without the children occasionally. It's good for the parents, and good for the children. By all means, accept your mother's generous offer.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GERTRUDE: The "candlelight" routine will never work. What he needs is a hotfoot!

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Summer News of PTA Groups Highlighted

The new and outgoing members of the board of Saratoga PTA were hostesses recently when they entertained at a buffet luncheon at the school honoring the members of the faculty.

In charge of arrangements for the luncheon were the room mothers.

The check, well over $700, represented profits from the PTA's Christmas open house and annual Fun Night program and will be divided among the classroom teachers for the purchase of books, records and other materials for instructional use.

Also PTA gifts to the school this year were a primer typewriter and table, a microphone stand, a desk chair for the teachers' lounge, and a lecturn.

From the left are Mrs. William L. Benker, immediate past president of the PTA; Mrs. Vernon Scofield, first vice president; and Miss Elsie Rice, principal.

Bridal Shower

Miss Marylen Breunsbach was honored on Friday, June 19, at a dessert supper and miscellaneous shower for which Mrs. P. O. Buterbaugh was hostess at her home. Eighteen guests were invited for the evening.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Eugene Nelson and Mrs. Dale Sturdy.

Miss Breunsbach has named Saturday, Aug. 1, as the date for her marriage to Michael Lipskey of Alvo. The ceremony will be solemnized at the Havelock Methodist Church.

A. Q. Zieqfeld

Naturally, we know the great showman's name was Flo—but just as he glorified the American girl, so has A. Q. (last name Schimmel, his theatre —the Hotel Cornhusker) glorified the American Hamburger.

The SCHIMMELburger is as different from the ordinary hamburger as caviar from sardines. A generous portion of choice ground round, lean and chockful of flavor, is shaped around cheddar cheese which melts deliciously in the broiling.

Skewered on the toasted bun are morsels of onion, pickle and tomato; celery, olive and radish adorn it. The Cornhusker's famous crisp curly shoestrings make this a man-size (and woman-favored) meal.

Try a SCHIMMELburger soon. Or a sizzling steak. It's gourmet fare at its finest.

DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

Practically everybody is camping these days. And the other day I drove up to Bear Creek in the Sierra Nevada Nevada to match wits with the trout—(the trout are witty this year.)

In my youth I did a good deal of this outdoor life. It seemed only fair that I should pass the knowledge along to the children.

"We will sleep on the ground," I said, "which is wonderful fun. And we will live off the country."

We packed in some borrowed sleeping bags. And in Big Pine, a sporting goods man sold me a king's ransom in axes, knives, ropes, water bags and fishing gear. He was so grateful, he went back and got three trout from his own freezer.

"Just a little something for dinner," he said.

We took them. We expect to catch our own trout. But we didn't want to seem ungrateful.

The witty trout have become gourmets. That is something I do not remember in my witty youth.

I cut three whippy aspens and tied line, leader and hooks on the end. I baited them with salmon eggs. The water was ice cold from the melting snow — we were up at 8000 feet and Bear Creek ran right beside our camp ground.

I baited up with salmon eggs. You could see a few trout in the quieter pools. But they only looked at the pink eggs. I don't know what they wanted — maybe for me to put it on toast with chopped egg and onion.

"The witty trout often do not feed until evening," I told the 4-year-old boy. "So you keep the line in the water. In case one of them wants a between-meals snack and I will start a fire."

Do you know that places where people camp, there is hardly any wood? True.

Here we were in the very heart of a great national forest. Not a stick of wood.

"You should have bought the charcoal. Like the man told you," said my 15-year-old daughter. He DID tell me to buy charcoal. I thought he was crazy.

"Never mind the criticism. Go get some wood."

That child is amazing. She came back with an armload. Cut to size.

"Where in the world did you get it?"

"Right over there."

There were some other people camped a few hundred yards downstream. They had a nice pile of wood beside their fire pit. Fortunately they were somewhere else. Fishing.

"Let us get the fire burning," I said hastily. "Before the people return."

Ordinarily I would not do this. But it may teach them a lesson not to hoard.

We dropped some new salmon eggs in the water. Yellow ones this time. You can get salmon eggs in all colors these days.

They would not even eat salmon eggs when I dropped them in loose. Without a hook.

The people who were fishing—the ones with the hoarded wood—came by. The man had a half dozen trout.

"They won't take salmon eggs," he said. "They only take worms."

"Where did you get the worms?"

"Down in town. They sell them in cans. Nice fire you got going there."

The fire with the borrowed wood blazed guiltily.

I put a pan on it and cooked some bacon. And we put in the trout that the nice storekeeper gave us.

And we all sat down and had dinner and agreed there was nothing like camping out. And living off the country.

Patterson Solid 4-1 Favorite Over Swede Tonight

TALE OF THE TAPE

New York (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson Wednesday remained a solid 4-1 favorite over Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, the unbeaten European titleholder, in tonight's 15-round match at Yankee Stadium.

The weatherman was not overly optimistic about the outlook for the fight, predicting a partly cloudy day with a chance of showers. However, the promotion was driving ahead with promoter Bill Rosensohn still predicting a gate of $600,000. That would mean between 35,000 and 40,000 paying fans.

Exact figures on ticket sales were hard to come by although Rosensohn said the advance had reached the $450,000 mark.

Original estimates of a $1,000,000 gate had to be scaled down when the match ran into a series of disturbing developments. A law suit threatened to block the fight for several days and still may hold up the purses. The promoter and Cus D'Amato, the champion's manager, had an argument during which the fight almost was moved to another city. Patterson's "warmup" title defense against Brian Londin in Indianapolis, May 1 was widely criticized.

Failure of Johannson to cut loose with his right in training awakened serious doubt in the minds of boxing writers. Only his perfect record (21 fights, 21 victories and 13 knockouts; and his one-round knockout of highly-ranked Eddie Machen last September made him appear a formidable challenger. "I am saving the right for Patterson," explained the Swede who still remains pretty much of a mystery to U.S. fans.

The match scheduled for 8:30 p.m. (CST), will not be seen on regular home television. It will be beamed into 170 locations in theaters and arenas in 135 cities by closed circuit television. The New York area will be blacked out on the theater TV but will join the rest of the country in the radio (ABC) broadcast.

Irving Kahn, president of the closed circuit TV company, predicted the bout would attract a $1,000,000 gate in the theaters. Approximately 550,000 seats are available. The all-time high for theater TV was a turnout of 364,000 paying $1,400,000 to see the Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio rematch last year.

The Swede, who hasn't fought since he flattened Machen Sept. 14, boxed over 190 rounds since arriving in this country with his mother, father, sister, two brothers, fiance and trainer. More recently he has been joined by his personal doctor and his adviser, Swedish promoter Edwin Ahlquist.

The handsome Scandinavian will weigh about 198 pounds, approximately 15 more than the champion who usually has to give away weight when he defends his crown. The challenger is about an inch taller than Floyd and bigger all the way around.

Patterson weighed about 182 pounds when he finished boxing Monday afternoon. He expects to come in at about 184 when they weigh in today.

It will be the 5th defense for the 24-year-old champion. Since he won the title by knocking out Archie Moore in 1956, he has stopped Hurricane Jackson, Pete Rademacher, Roy Harris and Brian London. He has won 22 straight and has knocked out 16 of his last 17 opponents. Since he turned pro after winning the 165-pound Olympic middleweight title in 1952, he has piled up a 35-1 record with 26 knockouts. The only defeat was a controversial decision to Joey Maxim, former light heavy champion, in an 8-round match in 1954.

Chiefs Nip Sioux City

Wild Pitch, Balk Produce Winning 4-3 Margin

Lincoln Star Special

Sioux City—A balk helped score the tying run and Lincoln added the winning run on a wild pitch here Wednesday night as the Chiefs took a 4-3 Three-I League victory over Sioux City.

Ralph Boxer helped the Lincoln cause, and was also tapped for 12 hits in his 8 innings. Ron Teunis picked up his 5th win for Lincoln with relief help from Fritz Ackley.

Trailing 3-2 after 6 innings, Lincoln knotted the count in the 7th when Don Bacon singled and went to second on a walk by Boxer. Bacon advanced on an infield out and scored on a single by Deacon Jones.

Pug Williamson got the winning run in the 8th after he singled and went to third on Al Schrader's double. Boxer then let loose a wild pitch to score Williamson.

Jones provided Lincoln's first run in the second inning with his 10th homer of the year. A single by Mike Hershberger, a walk to Jones and Don Gordon's single got another in the 4th.

Sioux City also got its runs one at a time. John Cunningham, who had 4 singles in 4 trips, helped tally two of them.

In the 3rd, Dick Howser walked and scored on singles by Cunningham and Tom McDonald. In the 4th, a walk to Gordon Taylor, Alex George's double and an error by Chuck Lehman on the relay from the outfield scored another.

Sioux City took its 3-2 lead in the 5th when Cunningham singled and scored on 3 consecutive bases on balls. Teunis hurt himself with walks, although he issued only 6.

A walk, Cunningham's 4th hit and a sacrifice put men on second and third with only one out in the Sioux City 9th, but Ackley got called third strikes on Tony Cannizzo and Jerry Sheehan to end the game. Ackley pitched the final two innings after Teunis was lifted for a pinch-hitter.

A Shrine Night doubleheader is slated tonight. Lincoln will hurl Phil Groth (3-4) and Al Brice (6-2) against the Soos' Dennis Schmitt (5-4) and Dave Hill (0-2).

STUART BELTS 15TH

But Bucs Fall To SF, 4-3

San Francisco (AP) — A blooped fly which center fielder Bill Virdon dropped with the bases loaded in the last of the 9th inning Wednesday gave the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a game highlighted by two tremendous home runs.

The bases were jammed on 3 walks with one out when pinch hitter Leon Wagner hit the high fly off Bob Porterfield, the 4th Pirate pitcher.

The loss was charged to Bennie Daniels, putting his record at 4-6, while Mike McCormick, the 3rd San Francisco pitcher, gained the victory, his 5th against 7 losses.

Pirate Dick Stuart blasted a second inning home run 430 feet over the fence in left center to tie the score at 1-1. Willie Kirkland walloped one about the same distance and also out of Seals Stadium in right center in the 6th and put the Giants ahead 2-1.

San Francisco manager Bill Rigney shook up the lineup of his second place Giants and they picked up 3 singles and a run in the first inning.

Then Stuart evened it with his 15th homer.

Kirkland's 12th homer put the Giants ahead. They got a run in the same inning on a single by Orlando Cepeda, a sacrifice and a single by Hobie Landrith.

Kansas City Escapes AL Cellar

Bud Daley Cools Off Yankees, 4-3

Kansas City (AP) — Lefthander Bud Daley stilled the New York Yankee bats Wednesday night with a 7-hit pitching job that gave the Kansas City Athletics a 4-3 victory and pulled them out of the American League basement.

Dick Williams, Kansas City 3rd baseman, walloped a 6th inning home run scoring Bill Tuttle ahead of him.

Daley, who has emerged as the A's most consistent pitcher, had to choke off a Yankee rally in the 9th inning to salt away his 7th triumph of the year. He has lost 5.

With one out, Bobby Richardson singled in the last inning. Daley got Yogi Berra on a rolled down the first base line but Norm Siebern singled home Richardson before Daley got Hank Bauer on a fly to right field.

Although the Yankees lost, they retained their hold on 4th place in the pennant race, two games behind the Cleveland Indians who dropped their game with Baltimore.

A crowd of 21,582 watched the A's take a 1-0 lead in the 4th inning when Williams walked, went to 3rd on a pair of infield outs and scored on Jerry Lumpe's single.

The Athletics made it 3-0 off starter Jim Bronstad in the 5th on Williams' two-run blast.

The Yanks came back with a two-run rally in the 6th after two were out. Bill Skowron walked and Elston Howard blasted a home run over the fence in deep right-centerfield.

Favorites Advance In Women's Meet

. . . No Major Upsets In 1st Round Matches

By Don Bryant

Nary a gal could fashion a major upset Wednesday as the Women's City Golf Tournament match play began at Hillcrest Country Club.

It was a day for the favorites in the championship flight.

Medalist and former champion Jean Hyland easily disposed of Eileen Mills, 8 and 6, and defending champ Dorothy Schwartzkopf took a 5 and 4 decision from Betty Abel.

Another former champion, Sara Lehman, defeated Betty Heckman, 4 and 3, and Phyllis Williamson, daughter of Lincoln Country Club pro Bud Williamson, kayoed former champ Peg Anderson, 9 and 7.

Other championship flight winners were Liz Murry (2 up over Jane Dobson), Thelma Wood (2 up over Carol Jean Ostiguy), Jean Garland (4 and 3 over Millie Thompson, and Vivian Black (4 and 2 over Mary Ann Liggett.)

One championship was awarded Wednesday in unusual fashion.

Betty Hans was defeated by Dave Boyer, 4 and 3, in 6th flight play and then moved to the consolation crown via a default and byes.

In first flight action, Louis Franks, Marry Jennings, Boots Cameron and Emile Pearce all advanced, while Stella Kaufman, Lou Vermaas, Clara Rausch and Janet Botsford were second flight winners.

Barb Miller, Phyllis Fastabend, Betty Dworak and Eleanor Oteeman enjoyed first round success in the 9-hole division first flight.

In the junior girls division, the stage is set for at least one member of the Debs Murray family to be unhappy Thursday night.

Sandi and Patty, daughters of the championship flight contender Liz Murray, posted victories Wednesday and will meet each other today.

Karen McMahan and Christie Schwartzkopf, who drew a first round bye, will vie for the other junior championship finals spot.

Moving Week

I don't believe there is a chore I dread more than moving. This week, the Beebes are hard at work moving into a new house in Bethany.

Before moving in, however, we're refinishing floors and painting the walls. At the moment, it's still touch-and-go as to whether we'll finish by Monday, when the movers are slated to pick up the stuff.

I'm shaky from riding herd on one of those galloping floor sanders, and stiff and sore from working on knees or stretching to reach the ceiling.

My wife has managed to seat herself upon some highly volatile paint remover, which necessitated a quick trip to change clothing.

Redhead No. 1 dumped a bucket of sawdust on top of redhead No. 2, sitting peacefully in his playpen.

"Never again," I always say.

Bunnies Draw In Fremont

Like them or not, the out-state schools should not ignore their bigger rivals in Omaha. The financial report released by Fremont High School shows why.

Fremont's football game last fall with Omaha Benson, not an Inter-City League power last year, pulled a gate of $1,397 at Fremont, almost as much as the other 3 home games did combined.

Norfolk drew $747, Beatrice $382.75, and unbeaten Grand Island only $317.75.

But with the Benson bonanza, Fremont football receipts for 4 games surpassed the 1957 season of 5 games.

It was the same in basketball, where Benson's game at Fremont was far ahead of the others at the gate.

Naturally, some Benson fans will travel to Fremont, while they might not journey in large numbers to Grand Island, North Platte, etc.

But obviously, other teams bring their own retinues with them, too.

Omahans An Attraction

The only conclusion is that the Omaha schools are an attraction whenever they appear outside their own bailiwick.

The 1959 grid season will be interesting in two respects concerning the Omaha teams.

It will mark Lincoln High's debut in the Inter-City League, bringing 4 Omaha schools to Lincoln, compared to the usual pair. Creighton Prep, Central, Tech and Benson play here this fall, while LHS is at North and South.

The Links will also meet city rivals Northeast and Southeast, plus traditional foes North Platte and Grand Island.

Also on tap next year is the journey by Omaha South to Scottsbluff, the first of two games between the cross-state rivals. The contract might be the beginning of more out-state activity by Omaha schools. You can bet the Scottsbluff stadium will be filled.

Out-state fans might hate the Omaha schools, be jealous of them or deny their quality, but they'll pay to see them play . . . hoping they'll lose, of course.

Aaron's Homer Beats Cards In Short Game

Milwaukee (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves staged a 4-run first inning, featured by Hank Aaron's two-on homer, Wednesday night in defeating the frustrated St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 in a rain-abbreviated game called in the last of the 7th.

The Braves wasted no time in jumping on St. Louis starter Dick Ricketts and managed to hold off Cardinal threats in maintaining their two-game lead over San Francisco in the National League race.

The Cardinals had at least one runner on base in each of the first 7 innings but couldn't come up with the clutch hit against Milwaukee starter Joey Jay, who picked up his 3rd victory in 8 decisions although lifted for a pinchhitter in the last of the 7th.

St. Louis left a total of 11 men on base while facing Jay. They connected for 8 hits off the young right-hander, collected 3 walks and also were aided by two errors. However, the timely hit wasn't there.

Billy Bruton bunted safely over Ricketts' head and Eddie Mathews drew a walk. Aaron then pulled his 20th homer of the year over the left field fence at the 355-foot mark to boost his RBI total for the year to 66.

Cincy's Brosnan Shuts Out Cubs

Cincinnati (AP)—Jim Brosnan pitched 4-hit shutout ball Wednesday night as the Cincinnati Reds defeated Chicago's Cubs 5-0. Brosnan struck out 6, walked two and in one stretch retired 11 men in a row.

The Cubs used 4 hurlers.

The Reds jumped into a 4-0 lead in the first and chased Cub starter Dick Drott after 2-3 of an inning.

After retiring Johnny Temple and Vada Pinson on easy fly balls, Drott walked Jerry Lynch who scored as Frankie Robinson doubled in his 61st run of the campaign. Robinson advanced on a wild pitch and scored as Gus Bell singled. Ed Bailey came through with his 5th home run, scoring Bell and himself.

The Cubs had two men on in the first, Tony Taylor singling and Lee Walls walking, but couldn't score. Brosnan set down 11 men in order through the next 3 frames. Then in the 5th, Bobby Thomson singled, but his next 3 teammates went out.

White Sox Boots Propel Nats, 4-2

Chicago (AP) — The usually solid White Sox defense broke down in the 9th inning Wednesday and Washington tallied 3 unearned runs for a 4-2 victory.

Dick Donovan had a 2-1 edge lead going into the 9th when Jim Lemon and Roy Sievers opened with singles. Clint Courtney popped up and then Hal Naragon grounded to Earl Torgeson.

Torgy, however, threw wild to second base and Lemon scored while the other two runners reached second and 3rd. Donovan tossed out Reno Bertoia himself, but then Ken Aspramonte beat out a hit to short, scoring Sievers and Naragon also tallied when Luis Aparicio's throw to first was wild.

The victory went to reliefer Truman Clevenger, who hurled two perfect innings after Russ Kemmerer had departed following the 6th. Hal Griggs checked the White Sox in the 9th.

Both Chicago runs off Kemmerrer were tallied by Aparicio. He singled in the first inning, stole second and scored on Nellie Fox' single. Aparicio hit an inside-the-park homer in the 5th. It was his 4th homer.

Singles by Lemon and Ron Samford produced the first Washington run in the 7th.

2 Signed For Grand Island

Kansas City (AP) — Two young second basemen have been signed by the Kansas City Athletics for their minor league club at Grand Island, Neb.

One is William Darius Fontana, 19-year-old from San Diego, Calif., who was on an all-city team there for two years.

The other is William Alvin Reagan, Newport, R. I., 20, who lettered in football, basketball and baseball at Rogers High School.

Ray Eliot Unhappy With Pros

Champaign, Ill. (AP)—Football coach Ray Eliot of Illinois was bitter Wednesday about the Cleveland Browns' signing of his star junior end, Rich Kreitling.

Added to Eliot's woes was the disclosure that his top two right halfbacks were declared ineligible.

Kreitling, the Browns' No. 1 choice in the National Football League draft, passed up another year of college eligibility by signing with the Browns.

"Only last Saturday, Kreitling told me he intended to continue in school this fall," said Eliot, who has announced his resignation as Illini coach after the 1959 season.

"He said he would play for us this fall. The Browns also assured me they would wait for him. It's hard to know whom to believe any more."

The two halfbacks ruled ineligible were Dick McDade, junior and a starting right halfback last season with a 4.1 average, and Bernie Clay, a 190-pound speedster who starred in spring practice.

Copple Beaten In 8th Minute

Moscow (AP) — The United States amateur wrestling team lost another match Wednesday when it dropped a 7½-½ decision to the Ukranian grapplers at Kiev according to a report from the Soviet Tass agency.

The Americans picked up their half-point when Terry McCann of Tulsa, Okla., drew with Mikhail Shakhov in the bantamweight match. McCann had won the only two matches tallied by the Americans in two previous clashes with the Russians.

The highlight of the match was the bout between Newt Copple, 7 times national AAU champion from Lincoln, Neb., and world titleholder Vladimir Sinyavsky. The Russian pinned Copple in the 8th minute.

Cowboy Coach Raps Athletes

Exeter, N.H. (AP) — Henry (Hank) Iba, Oklahoma State's basketball coach, took a backward glance at his 25 years of coaching and noted a big difference in the type of boy entering college, and presumably high school, these days.

"In the old days you could ask a boy for 100 per cent and sometimes get 110 per cent," Iba told area coaches. "Now 80 per cent effort is about the limit and you're lucky if you can get that much."

Highway 4 Directors OK 6-Point Plan

Meitzner Re-Elected As Head

Davenport, Neb. (AP)—The board of directors of Highway 4 Assn. has adopted a 6-point program developed at a meeting of the executive planning council recently in Red Cloud.

The program calls for:

Rerouting of Highway 4 from Campbell to Holdrege through Upland, Hildreth and Wilcox and hard-surfacing the spur from Highway 183-383 east to Ragan;

Securing support from the South Platte United Chambers of Commerce for the rerouting of No. 4 and the improvement program.

Relocating spur 310 running east from Hildreth to a point southeast of Hildreth and running diagonally east along the railroad track to Highway 10;

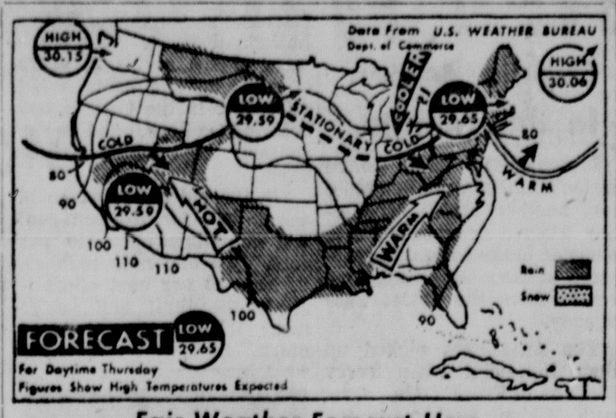

A sustained promotion and publicity program designed to all attention to the crisis of towns served by the highway, and

An intensive membership and solicitation to show support for the No. 4 program.

J. R. McBride, Minden, member of the State Highway Advisory Commission, and D. A. Coolidge, McCook, division engineer of the state Highway Department, both spoke, discussing highway construction procedures.

McBride, referring to the dispute over the location of the Interstate Highway, denied that there was any feuding between the Commission and the State Highway Department. There are honest differences of opinion, he said.

Most officers of the association were re-elected at the Davenport meeting. They are Julius Meitzner, Hildreth, president; Don Bailey, Campbell, 1st vice president; Charles Gabus, Holdrege, 2nd vice president. The exception was the election of Carl Kruse of Hildreth as secretary-treasurer, succeeding George Casper Jr., also of Hildreth.

Mrs. Epp Will Head Synodical

Mrs. Johnson Is Secretary

Hastings, Neb. (AP) — Mrs. A. W. Epp of Lincoln was elected president of the United Presbyterian Synodical society of Nebraska at the group's annual convention at Hastings College Wednesday.

Other officers named included Mrs. Horace Tiffen of Omaha, vice president; Mrs. Arthur L. Johnson of Lincoln, secretary, and Mrs. Ross Barr of Liberty, treasurer.

Dr. J. Douglas Clyde of Philadelphia, a former Lincoln pastor, addressed the synod and synodical convention Wednesday morning on the church's program of Christian education. Dr. Clyde is now associate secretary for Christian education in the organization's national headquarters.

MRS. A. W. EPP

The Presbyterian Men's Council of Nebraska presented longtime Synod Executive Dr. George Bancroft of Omaha with a pair of round trip plane tickets for Alaska.

Dr. Bancroft and his wife left Wednesday on the trip. He was also re-elected to the executive post for another three year term.

Ray Hansen of Omaha, chairman of the church's Welfare Foundation, reported a $550,000 fund raising drive was in progress for construction of old people's homes throughout the state. He said the first unit would be in Lincoln.

Dr. S. G. Kessler of Hastings told the convention some $96,937 had been collected toward a $150,000 goal for a Presbyterian campground along the Platte River near Fremont. He said the site of the camp has already been purchased.

States Rights Bill Gets House Nod By 225-192

. . . Many Republicans Jump The Fence

Washington (AP) — House Republicans jumped the Eisenhower administration line in droves Wednesday to help Southern Democrats pass a states rights bill, 225-192.

Only 30 Republicans voted against the bill, which President Eisenhower's top Justice Department officials repeatedly said would create a welter of uncertainty and litigation over federal and state laws in the same fields. A total of 162 Democrats also voted "No."

Siding with the 111 Democrats who voted for the bill—nearly all from the South—were 114 Republicans. Among them was GOP House leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who spoke on the Southerners' side during debate on a key amendment.

The senior Republican member of the Judiciary Committee, Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, was one of the floor generals of the forces pushing for approval.

The bill now goes to the Senate where a similar measure died last year. It provides that a federal law does not take over from a state law in the same field unless Congress says so specifically, or unless the two statutes cannot be reconciled.

It was variously described as a weapon pointed at civil rights and labor legislation, a reaffirmation of the Constitution, a slap at the Supreme Court and a leap into the dark, with unpredictable effects on scores of federal and state enactments.

Emotional Impact

The issue of Communism and subversion contributed to the emotion which frequently charged the 3-day debate.

One of the key Supreme Court decisions involved reversed the conviction of Steve Nelson under a Pennsylvania sedition law. The court held the federal law had taken over the field.

The Southern Democratic-Republican coalition beat down all efforts to dilute the bill.

As the Republicans stood almost solidly to vote with the Southerners on one of these moves, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) offered an ironic compliment to "the entire phalanx of Republicans rushing to the aid of their attorney general."

The amendment Halleck spoke against was proposed by Celler. It sought to make the new rule apply only to laws passed from now on. Celler called it a test of sincerity for the proponents who had been saying their measure was not retroactive.

But the author of the bill, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va), said the amendment was "obviously designed to destroy the bill."

Nebraskans' Vote

All 4 Nebraska congressmen, two Republicans and two Democrats, voted for the states rights bill. Listed in favor of the measure were Glen Cunningham (R), Larry Brock (D), Don McGinley (D) and Phil Weaver (R).

2 Bomarcs Hit Target

Eglin AFB, Fla. (AP) — Two IM-99A Bomarc missiles were launched successfully Wednesday against a simulated attack by two high-speed jet drones over the Gulf of Mexico.

Hoffa Warms Up To Missile Workers

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (UPI) —Jimmy Hoffa, boss of the vast Teamsters Union, toured the Air Force Missile Test Center Wednesday prior to an attempt to organize 2,000 missile workers who have no union affiliation.

Hoffa, facing a new Senate investigation of the Teamsters, said his union does not plan to raid established unions at the missile base.

But he said he understood there were 2,000 unorganized workers at the test center, and added that "where there are unorganized workers we will organize them."

Hoffa, whose Teamsters have been expelled from the AFL-CIO for corrupt practices, made the remarks to reporters at adjacent Cocoa Beach before arriving at the cape for a 4-hour tour.

The chunky little Teamster leader said his membership drive would not be limited to the missile center. He said the Teamsters woulh seek to organize workers in "all private industry in central Florida."

The Air Force said Hoffa was being given a standard tour of the missile test center, similar to the visit made by leaders of several building trade unions recently.

Officials said Hoffa was invited "because he's a recognized labor leader who represents 300 men here."

The Teamsters are the bargaining agent for stock clerks employed by Pan-American World iArways, which supports missile operations under government contract.

Hoffa, accompanied by 4 Teamster lieutenants, saw the launching sites of the Atlas and Titan intercontinental ballistic missiles and attended an unclassified briefing similar to that many civilian visitors are given.

Hoffa acknowledged that the cape was an installation conducting vital test activities. But he said that except in wartime the Teamsters would "not forego the right to strike."

Fred Wells To Direct Foundation

The Lincoln Foundation Inc. executive committee Wednesday elected Fred N. Wells to serve as its first executive director and announced that a foundation office would be opened on the 3rd floor of the Continental National Bank Building.

Wells

Former president of Wells and Frost in Lincoln, and now chairman of the board of that firm, Wells has been a member of the board of directors and vice president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, he is currently treasurer of the Nebraska Art Assn.

Foundation President Wheaton Battey praised Wells and said the organization was "fortunate in having him accept the position, especially on a voluntary basis."

"His long association with the civic, cultural and business life of the community makes him well qualified," Battey said.

Pen Graduates 17 New Cooks, Bakers

The graduates presented to Deputy Warden John Greenholtz a plaque in which they promised to become "worthwhile members of society."

Some 126 men have graduated from the school since it was established in 1956.

After 9 Years, Seoul's Scars Of War Are Gone

Seoul (UPI) — Seoul today is the Berlin of Asia.

Nine years after its devastation by war, it has risen to become a modern, bustling city.

Seoul was sacked, burned and shelled from end to end; flames seared it, and at times in 1950 the volcanoes of smoke from its fires obscured it from sight.

Nine years ago it seemed inconceivable that human hands could ever restore what human hands had destroyed. But on the 9th anniversary of the Korean War, which began June 25, 1950, there is little scar tissue to be seen. The broken and torn pieces that were once Seoul have been put back together with American dollars and Korean sweat.

Bridge Restored

The famous Han River Bridge that was twisted and broken has been restored, and a parallel streamlined structure today carries four lanes of heavy traffic between Yong Dong Po and Seoul.

Gaily decorated houseboats line the Han's wide sandy shores, where American Marines were caught in a crossfire of North Korean artillery and machineguns.

The waters which were tinted with blood 9 years ago flow green and tranquil today with never a hint that they brought death and suffering to thousands in those dark, grim days of 1950.

Today you roll down paved, shady avenues that were once choked with fleeing civilians.

Trolleys Roll

The dangling trolley wires have been replaced and the spic-and-span trolleys are crammed with housewives, commuters, school children and oldsters. There is still a preponderance of military traffic, as Korean and American trucks, jeeps and sedans weave in and out among the bicycles, handcarts and bullock wagons.

The unforgettable A-frame on the human back is still carrying most of Korea's burdens, but the cargoes today are the goods of trade and produce instead of the ammunition and war supplies of 1950.

White In Style

The children who were so pitifully ragged, scared and filthy are now scrubbed and shy and happy in their blue skirts and middies. White is still the height of feminine fashion, and Western styles are still a poor second to the nun-like gowns of white that have always been Korea's national dress for its women.

Everywhere there is the sound of building in Seoul as the reconstruction goes forward. Bamboo for scaffording is at a premium, and as fast as old buildings are demolished, work begins on new ones. Up on one of Seoul's highest hills the ground is being cleared for the new capitol.

The driving force behind Seoul's rebirth is the American dollar, for more military and economic aid has been poured into South Korea than any other area of its size in the world.

Seoul, Korea (UPI) — President Syngman Rhee has again called on the U. S. to allow the Republic of Korea to launch an offensive to drive the Communists out of North Korea.

In a written interview, Rhee said Korea was a divided peninsula today only because of the "mistaken judgment" of the U. S. that it could be united by peaceful means.

Nothing less than force can unify Korea and prevent a third world war, Rhee said.

New State Vets Affairs Officer Set

Steider Reported Eby Replacement

Elmer Steider of Beaver Crossing is in line for appointment as director of the State Department of Veterans Affairs, it was learned Wednesday.

He would succeed Louis R. Eby, who was informed during the day that Gov. Ralph Brooks intended to appoint a new director.

Nebraska Veterans of Foreign Wars immediately announced that they will "vigorously oppose" any attempt to replace Eby.

Said 'Disservice'

"We feel it would be a great disservice to the veterans of Nebraska who have been served so well by Louis Eby," State Adjutant Robert Lowe said.

"It is our interpretation of the law which originally established the Department of Veterans Affairs that careful attention was given by the Legislature to make sure this position of director did not fall into the category of partisanship," Lowe said.

Sec. of State Frank Marsh, himself a veteran, termed the action "the most despicable move on the part of the Democrats, who claimed that they would not 'roll heads.' "

Eby has held the post since the office was created in 1947. The position is salaried at $7,000 annually.

'Without Term'

Lowe said the law specifies that the director shall be appointed by the governor to serve without term "which would indicate to us that the only reason for his removal would have to be due cause.

"If such cause exists, we have not been apprised of it, and certainly as a veterans organization we should have been among the first consulted if there was disapproval of the manner in which the Department was being administered."

Eby, Lowe said, was appointed by former Gov. Val Peterson after the governor asked the VFW and the American Legion to submit the name of their choice.

Steider, 52, graduated from Beaver Crossing High School and attended the University of Nebraska.

A veteran of World War II, he is a member of both the American Legion and VFW. Steider is married and the father of 6 children.

He is a Democrat.

Barrymore Jr. Wins Suspended Sentence

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP) — Actor John Barrymore Jr. got a suspended sentence Wednesday on hit-run and drunk driving charges.

He was placed on 3 years probation on condition that he abstain from alcoholic liquors and continue with psychiatric assistance.

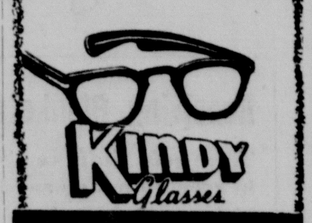

The 27-year-old actor was arrested March 6 for hitting the rear of another car and driving away.

$228,000 Damage Suits Filed In Holdrege Crash

Holdrege, Neb. (AP)—Suits asking more than a quarter million dollars have been filed in Federal District Court in Lincoln as the result of a two-vehicle accident which occurred near here earlier this month.

Suits are filed by the 5 members of the Rex Jones family and Roger Bundy. They asked a total of $228,000 of Ernest O. Linner and wife of Holdrege for injuries, medical expenses, and damages.

The accident occurred June 3 on U. S. 183 one mile south of Holdrege. Linner was driving a pickup truck which was in collision with a station wagon in which the Jones family and Bundy were riding. They were en route from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. The truck is registered jointly to the Linners.

The plaintiff's attorneys said the case was filed in federal district court because of the diversity of citizenship between the parties involved. The Joneses and Bundy are Montanans.

Soybeans Lead Grain Recovery

Chicago (AP)—New crop soybeans led a good recovery movement most of the time Wednesday on the Board of Trade but the July delivery came under selling pressure and was the only weakling in any of the pits.

Several contracts were ahead by a cent a bushel or more at their best as dealers reinstated long positions or covered short ones after the broad general selling of Tuesday.

Traders said the demand was a normal reaction to the sharp setbacks even without any significant commercial influences.

Some of the buying of new crop soybeans appeared to be linked to the report that during May processors crushed more than 36¼ million bushels, the largest since January and about 1¾ million more than in April.

Carload receipts in Chicago today were estimated at: wheat 31 cars, corn 92, oats 14, rye 2, barley 4, soybeans 15.

Wheat closed ⅛-¾ cent a bushel higher on the 1959 crop contracts, July $1.86⅛-¼, and ⅝-½ higher on the 1960 crop months; corn ⅝-¾ higher, July $1.26-26⅛; oats 1¼-1¾ higher, July new type contract 66¼-¼; rye ¾-1¼ higher, July $1.24¼; soybeans 1¼ lower to 1½ higher, July $2.21⅞-⅞.

Hanley Denies Silencing Police

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County Attorney John Hanley has denied he told police to keep silent regarding a $100,000 bond stolen from the safe of the city sanitation company March 14.

The bond was regained by the company May 8 on payment of a $10,000 reward.

Police Chief C. Harold Ostler and Capt. Ted Pike had said the county attorney's office had made the request for silence.

Hanley said he "never told the police to keep quiet. I had no reason to go to the police department.

In response to a question Hanley said he did tell police when he entered the investigation "that I would conduct it completely."

Omaha's Budget At $12,318,000

Omaha (AP) — City Finance Director Edwin J. Hewitt has completed a tentative city general fund budget of $12,318,000. It is $1,238,000 higher than this year's budget.

About half of the increase would come from doubling the wheel tax on cars and trucks and extending the charge to non-resident Omaha workers.

The other half would come from an increase in taxable property valuations.

Protest Is Made By U.S.

. . . Trujillo 'Trickery'

Washington (AP) — A double-barrelled complaint to the Dominican Republic alleged Wednesday that the U.S. ambassador was tricked into shaking hands with a Dominican spy and that a U.S. Air Force transport was forced down by a Dominican fighter plane.

The State Department said there has not been a reply to either complaint filed with the Caribbean regime headed by strongman Rafael Trujillo.

The Air Force plane was forced down at Cuidad Trujillo while en route from Puerto Rico to Cuba.

Reasons Wanted

Although the plane was allowed to take off again, the State Department said it has instructed the U.S. ambassador to express this nation's serious concern and get a complete explanation.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, gave this version of the ambassador's handshake that has brought protests from anti-dictator groups in the intrigue-filled Caribbean:

Secret Mission

U.S. Ambassador Joseph F. Farland with other members of the diplomatic corps in Ciudad Trujillo, was called to the foreign office with no explanation.

There the members of the diplomatic corps were introduced individually to Lt. Col. Juan de Dios Ventura Simo and shook hands.

Ventura Simo was said to have "defected" in a Dominican plane 3 weeks ago, landed in Puerto Rico, then returned to the Dominican Republic with rebel forces and been "captured." Before the episode he was a major.

Photos Scattered

A photograph of Farland, an Eisenhower political appointee, shaking hands with Ventura Simo in the presence of Dominican Foreign Minister Porfirio Herrera Paez was widely published.

White said that after the foreign office meeting "Ambassador Farland immediately expressed his keen disapproval to the dean of the diplomatic corps and then to the Dominican foreign minister for staging a presentation which placed the members of the diplomatic corps in a position which was subject to misinterpretation."

Larsen To Ask Re-Election As StateTreasurer

State Treasurer Richard Larsen told The Star Wednesday he will seek re-election in 1960.

Larsen is the only Democrat, other than Gov. Ralph Brooks, who was elected on a statewide ticket last year.

A formal announcement of his candidacy will be made "within the near future," Larsen said.

The 36-year-old former Omahan predicted that "Democratic hopes for 1960 are looking better than ever." The treasurer praised the enthusiasm of a party meeting held in Norfolk Tuesday night.

Long Bids For Backing Over Louisiana Radio

. . . Speech Smuggled Out Of Hospital

Baton Rouge, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl K. Long slipped a tape recording out of a mental hospital Wednesday night and broadcast to the state that he had been put away by his "jealous" wife and U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long.

The recording, smuggled out of the hospital by Long's attorney, Joseph Arthur Sims, was carried over Louisiana radio stations.

Long asked the people to "pray" that he be released on Friday at a habeas corpus hearing.

He gave the assurance he "wouldn't hurt anybody" if he is released from Southeastern Hospital in Mandeville, La., where he is confined as a schizophrenic paranoid.

He is scheduled to get a hearing at 10 a.m. Friday in Covington, La., before District Judge Robert D. Jones on whether he was illegally confined on a commitment warrant signed by his wife—now hiding outside Louisiana.

Mob Expected

The broadcast was calculated to insure a tremendous crowd Friday at the Covington Junior High School which has been converted into a courthouse and where the session will be held on a basketball court.

Long wandered and meandered in his talk but his voice was strong and vigorous and his thoughts clearly expressed. Veteran statehouse correspondents here said he sounded "just like the same old Earl Long" who has stumped the state for votes for 20 years.

Sick And Poor

He said the state has to take care of people who are sick and are poor. He related what a "good job" his administration has done for the state.

In conclusion, he said he said he didn't want to "hurt anybody" and asked people to pray for him on the outcome of the hearing.

10% Travel Tax Repeal Approved

. . . By Senate Unit

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee by a narrow one-vote margin called Wednesday for repeal of the 10% federal excise tax on airline, train and long-distance bus tickets.

The committee tacked the provision on to a bill to extend for another year present high Korean War tax rates on cigarets, liquor, beer, new automobiles and corporations. Members then approved the overall measure.

The committee defeated several other amendments; including one to crack down on tax deductions claimed by business firms for entertainment. Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) charged some businessmen were abusing the practice, even writing off African safaris as business expense.

Committee Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) said he expected the measure to be brought up for Senate action on Friday—just 5 days before the excise tax rates are scheduled to drop back to pre-Korean levels.

County 4-H Youths See Washington

Washington (AP) — Four Nebraska youths stopped off for a look at Washington while en route to England to represent the United States in the International Dairy Judging contest next month.

They're members of the Lancaster County, Neb. dairy judging team that won the national championship in Waterloo, Ia., last fall.

The youths, all from Lincoln, are David Sandfort, John Musselman and John Lawritson, all 17, and Larry Axthelm, 16. Cyril Bish, Lancaster County extension agent, and Phil Cole, extension dairyman with the University of Nebraska, also will make the trip.

The international will be held in Oxford, England, on July 8 as part of the Royal Livestock Show. The Nebraska group will leave by plane from New York Thursday.

This is the fourth Nebraska dairy judging team to win the national championship. The last time was in 1936. It is the second national winner from the state to compete in the international. The 1928 team took second place abroad.

After the judging is completed in Oxford, the 6-member delegation will tour Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France before returning to this country July 27. Their trip is being financed by local contributions.

GLORIA IS WINNER

. . . In Custody Case

New York (UPI) —Heiress Gloria Vanderbilt, whose own mother was ruled "unfit" to rear her 25 years ago, won her child custody battle against conductor Leopold Stokowski Wednesday. But the judge who ruled in the case scolded the couple for bringing their troubles to court.

Gloria

New York Supreme Court Justice Edgar J. Nathan said he could not rule that either the heiress or her ex-husband was an unfit parent, despite the angry charges they made against one another at the outset of their fight over their two young sons.

But the judge said it would be in the best interests of Chris, 7, and Stan, 8, if their mother had complete custody, with generous visitation rights to the father.

Board Commutes Term Of Convicted Murderer

The life sentence of Arthur Floth of Gering, convicted in 1938 of first degree murder, was commuted Wednesday by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles to 45 years.

Floth, 44, has served 21 years.

In other action, the Board paroled 8 other State Penitentiary inmates, commuted the sentence of one for a detainer and paroled two inmates of the Women's Reformatory.

Floth was convicted of stabbing to death his wife and unborn child shortly after his wife sued for divorce in 1938.

Judged Insane

The Gering man was adjudged insane by the Prison Sanity Board in 1941, and transferred to the State Hospital where he stayed until 1946.

He has been at the Penitentiary since that date.

All members of the Pardon Board—Gov. Ralph Brooks, Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck and Secretary of State Frank Marsh—were on hand as was new Penitentiary Warden Maurice Sigler.

Other action:

Women's Reformatory

Margaret Nelson, 25, Audubon, Ia., first degree arson, Lancaster County, two years, July 2, 1958, paroled.

Elaine Bruner, 21, Amherst, Colo., first degree arson, Lancaster County, two years, July 2, 1958, paroled.

State Penitentiary

Roy L. Goldman, 28, Hastings, robbery and rape, Adams County, 6 years, Feb. 27, 1956, paroled.

William W. Lee, 51, Omaha, burglary, Douglas County, 6 years, Aug. 6, 1956, paroled.

Robert D. Benedict, 28, Omaha, uttering forged check, Douglas County, 7 years, May 10, 1957, paroled.

Earl D. Jamerson, 31, Omaha, debauching a minor, Douglas County, 4 years, May 23, 1957, paroled.

Louis Sedlacek, 25, Prague, issuing no fund checks, Douglas County, 5 years, April 24, 1958, parole deferred until October.

Ralph W. King, 34, Omaha, burglary, Douglas County, 3 years, April 23, 1958, paroled.

Ray C. Wood, 29, Austell, Ga., burglary, Douglas County, 3 years, April 23, 1958, paroled.

Howard Ressigue, 40, Laurens, Ia., issuing no account check, Douglas County, 3 years, June 18, 1958, paroled.

Benjamin Skinner, 31, Gering, forgery and violating bench parole, Scotts Bluff County, 5 years, May 15, 1956, commutation for detainer.

Raitt Joining Staff Of U.S. Dist. Atty.

Omaha (AP)—Ronald D. Raitt, 28, Ainsworth, Neb., was named an assistant U.S. district attorney in the Omaha office Wednesday.

Raitt was an honor graduate in June from the University of Nebraska College of Law.

District Attorney William Spire said Spire will join his staff July 6 to succeed Byron Stratton, who resigned last month.

Parade Closes Creighton Event

Creighton, Neb. — The second parade in Creighton's 85th anniversary celebration featured the concluding day's program.

Bands from Creighton, Niobrara and Neligh High School and the Verdigre Bohemian Band participated. The Plainview Cycle Club and the Plainview Go-Carts also participated in the parade and gave a demonstration afterward.

Mrs. Carrie Burdick, over 94, and a pioneer of the area, was elected mother of the anniversary celebration.

Creighton's new $40,000 swimming pool was dedicated as a part of the celebration.

Plea For Kill Renewed On Schooling-For-Military Aid

Sens. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln and Edwin McHugh of Murdock made further appeals to their fellow lawmakers Thursday to kill LB738, a bill which would make it permissive rather than mandatory that school districts must educate children of military personnel on active duty in the state.

The bill also removes the requirement that the state must aid financially those districts which have such children.

Sen. Orme noted that only 7 communities are now affected by the federal installations, but predicted more and more districts will be affected as the various missile bases proposed for Nebraska are completed.

Profitable?

On the surface it might appear these communities would profit tremendously by having federal installations there, Sen. Orme said.

"It probably is true that these members of the armed services make a lot of their purchases in these communities," she continued, "but this in no way helps the home owner who must pay these school taxes."

Sen. Orme noted that Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney "feels very strongly" that LB738 either should be amended or killed.

Inconsistent

Sen. McHugh said passage of the bill would be inconsistent with our constitution which requires the education of all persons between the ages of 5 and 21 years of age.

The Murdock senator said it is conceivable that as LB738 is enacted into law, approximately 4,000 children might be denied an education in Nebraska because their parents have been ordered to military duty within the state.

McHugh called LB738 the "first effort of the Nebraska Legislature to discriminate against children of military personnel regarding a public education in the state."

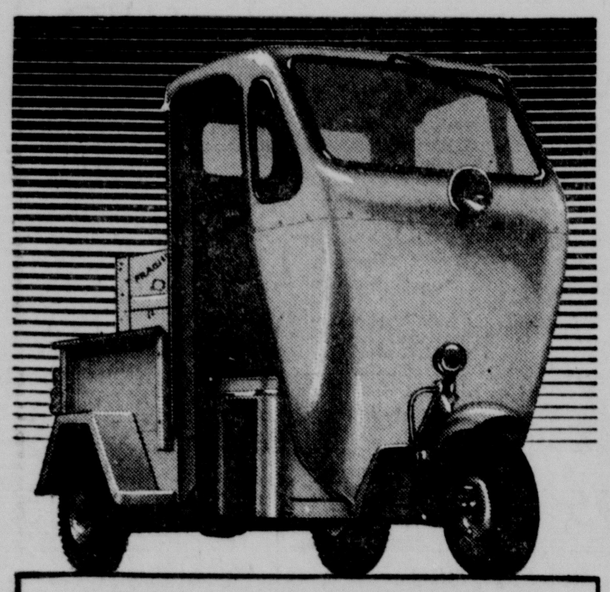

The bill will come up for final reading Thursday.
